LYNCHING CONDEMNED IN STRONGEST TERMS

House Calls on Governor to Apprehend and Punish Members of Mob.

GOVERNOR REQUESTED TO EMPLOY DETECTIVES

Whitley, of Douglas, First Opposed the Resolution, but When the Amendment Was Adopted It Was Passed Unanimously.

HON. BOYKIN WRIGHT,
Of Richmond, Who Introduced the Resolution Condemning Lynching in Strong Terms.

The house of representatives yesterday unanimously adopted a resolution severely condemning the action of the mob which took eight prisoners from the jail at Watkinsville in Oconee county and lynched them, and calling upon the governor to offer rewards and to use every means in his power to bring the offenders to speedy justice.

The resolution which was offered by Mr. Wright, of Richmond, created quite a little stir in the house when it was read. It was soon apparent, however, that the members generally favored it, the only opposition coming from Dr. Whitley, of Douglas, who finally supported the resolution after the adoption of an amendment condemning the crimes committed by the victims of the lynching, as well as the lynching itself.

The resolution as passed calls on the governor not only to offer rewards for the apprehension of the guilty parties, but to send the solicitor general or the attorney general to the scene of the crime, and to employ suitable detectives to prosecute the inquiry to the fullest extent with a view to bringing the members of the mob to speedy justice.

Whitley Oppose It.

No sooner had Mr. Wright moved the immediate adoption of the resolution, than Mr. Whitley, of Douglas, was on his feet and spoke in strongest terms of opposition to it.

Dr. Whitley said the resolution was entirely too strong. This lynching was a matter for the attention of the governor and the courts, and not a question for the legislature to deal with.

"It cannot be held that the men who were in that mob were worse than the negroes who committed the horrible crime with which they were charged," Dr. Whitley declared.

Dr. Whitley said the legislature should not deal with this matter. These people had taken the step they did for the protection of their lives and their homes. He moved that the resolution be tabled, but withdrew the motion in order to allow discussion.

Mr. Wright declared that Dr. Whitley had misunderstood the terms of the resolution. The resolution did not say that the white men in the mobs were worse than the negroes who had committed the crimes. What it did say was that the lynching of these men was a greater blow at the law of the state than the crime which the victims of the mob had committed. It was a matter in which the legislature should be interested and should take a hand along with every other branch of the government. It was a blot upon the fair name of the state, and it was the duty of the state to take prompt and effective measures to bring the guilty parties to justice.

Many Favored Resolution.

Mr. Stovall, of Chatham, urged the passage of the resolution in strong terms. It was the duty of the legislature to repudiate this horrible crime and to call in strong terms for the punishment of the offenders.

Mr. McMullen, of Hart, urged the passage of the resolutions and said he wished to place himself on the side of law and order.

"It is the duty of the legislature to unanimously pass this resolution, and put its stamp of condemnation upon this awful crime," declared Mr. George, of Morgan.

Dr. Kelly, of Glascock, expressed similar views, in denouncing the action of the mob.

Mr. Covington, of Colquitt, also urged the unanimous passage of the resolutions.

Hon. G. D. Cook, of Oconee, the county in which the tragedy occurred, deplored the lynching and stated that it was pretty well ascertained that the members of the mob were not citizens of Oconee. It was the earnest desire of the people of the county, he said, that the law should take its course in these cases. Mr. Cook concluded by strongly indorsing the resolution and urging its passage.

Mr. Hall, of Bibb, declared that the legislature had no more solemn duty to the people of the state than the adoption of this resolution. He hoped it would be unanimously adopted. Similar action was urged by Mr. Griffin, of Cobb.

Dr. Whitley's Resblution.

Dr. Whitley said he wanted it distinctly understood that he was in favor of law and order, but there were crimes in the state which ought not to be tolerated. He said he cared nothing about what the "Yankees" thought of the state. There were certain crimes that when committed, the criminals should be stopped right there, and not be allowed to go around and commit others like them. He declared no member of the mob would ever be convicted, if caught, and that the effort to arrest and convict them would be wholly fruitless.

Hon. Seab Wright, of Floyd, said he was confident Dr. Whitley misunderstood the terms of the resolution. He declared there was but one thing for the legislature and for the state to do, and that was to put its seal of condemnation upon this horrible exhibition of mob law. The good name of the state and ultimately the safety of the white people of the state, Mr. Wright declared, were involved.

Mr. Leigh, of Coweta, spoke strongly in favor of the resolution.

A conference was held in which an amendment offered by Mr. Whitley, of Douglas, was accepted. This amendment denounced the crimes committed by the victims of the lynchers as well as the lynching.

This satisfied Dr. Whitley and his amendment was adopted after which the resolution was unanimously passed, as follows:

The Resolution As Passed.

Resolution by Mr. Wright, of Richmond:

Whereas, this house has heard with inexpressible shame and horror of the foul blot put upon the good name of this state by a mob of masked murderers who broke into the jail of Oconee county and shot to death eight helpless prisoners awaiting their trial in the courts; and,

And, whereas, the members of this house keenly realize that cruel, barbarous and inexcusable as were the bloody injuries perpetrated upon the unfortunate victims of this crime, they are not half so ghastly and but little more fatal than the wounds thereby inflicted upon the honor and civilization of this commonwealth.

And, whereas, no effort should be spared by either the legislative, executive or judicial branches of our government to wipe out this stain and disgrace by apprehending the guilty parties who have thus brought reproach upon all the law-abiding citizens of the state; therefore, be it,

Resolved, first, That the governor be, and he is hereby, earnestly requested to at once offer ample rewards for the detection and arrest with proof to convict of anyone or all of said criminals.

Second. That the governor be, and is hereby, requested to send at once to the scene of the crime the solicitor general of the circuit or the attorney general of the state to institute a thorough investigation as to who are the guilty paries and that he be provided with suitable detectives and officers to exhaustively prosecute said inquiry with a view to bringing them to speedy justice.

Third. That while condemning the crime with which the prisoners were charged and especially that of rape, and our sympathies going out to the unfortunate victims of brute force, yet nevertheless we are forced to condemn the action of the mob.

SEVEN NEGROES FILL ONE GRAVE

Coffin Bought for Aycock by Gift of Citizens.

People of Watkinsville Said To Strongly Condemn Action of Mob in the Wholesale Lynching Which Occurred Thursday.

Athens, Ga., June 30.—(Special.)—The excitement in the little town of Watkinsville has about died out since the action of the mob yesterday morning in taking seven negroes and one white man from the jail there and shooting them to death.

One of the negroes, Sandy Price, was claimed by his mother and was buried in the negro cemetery. The other six were unclaimed and were all buried in one grave.

The people of Watkinsville made up money to purchase a coffin for Aycock, the white man, and he was buried in the Watkinsville cemetery.

The excitement incident to the lynching having died away to a large extent, the people of Oconee county have now turned their attention to the unearthing of all possible evidence as to the identity of the mob.

Judge John Calvin Johnson, chairman of the citizens' committee that investigated the Holbrook murder case in order to get the evidence against the guilty parties in that case, has called the committee to meet tomorrow at 2 o'clock at the court house in Watkinsville.

When the committee meets resolutions strongly condemning the action of the mob and pledging the committee to assist the authorities in every way to ferret out the members of the mob will be passed.

The members of the committee all express themselves as in favor of the most vigorous steps being taken along this line.

Hon. E. B. Thompson, of Oconee county, a member of the committee, was in the city today and talked interestingly of the situation. He was satisfied that the mob was made up of a lawless element from several counties, and that its work in no way represented the sentiments of the good people of either of the counties from which the mob received its members.

How the Mob Came In.

The mob was a small one. In fact it is now believed that not more than forty men were in it. That these men had been thoroughly drilled in the work they were to perform cannot be doubted. As the crime of Sandy Price in entering the house of Mrs. Dooley Tuesday had been committed but little over twenty-four hours before the mob assembled, it is believed by many that this mob had already been organized and simply awaited an excuse to put its plans into operation. That excuse came when the Price negro entered Mrs Dooley's house.

No military company could have maneuvered with more regularity of movement than this mob.

A citizen of Watkinsville, who placed more confidence than others in the rumor that the mob was coming, happened to be up at the time the mob came. He first saw a lone man on horseback ride down the principal street of the town and look around thoroughly. Then he rode silently back in the direction from which he first came. Presently two more men came along and made a reconnoissance and returned to the place from which they came.

Then came the mob in force. They were afoot and a column marched on each side of the main street of the town as they proceeded to the jail. They looked like a military company. There was not a word spoken and no sound save the tramping of the feet.

When it came to the point of firing into the bodies of the doomed men, they lined up as soldiers would and awaited the command to fire. It was given, "One, two, three, fire!" The reports of the forty guns sounded as one report, so well regulated was the firing. There was no confusion whatever in the other volleys.

A citizen of Athens who spent the night in the lower part of Oconee county near the Greene county line says that none of the mob came from that direction. It had rained the evening before and buggy wheels made distinct tracks in the road. On this main road this Athens citizen saw no buggy tracks until he got almost to Watkinsville.

Joe Patterson, the negro who was shot by the mob, but who escaped death, is steadily improving and will get well. Ed Thrasher, the negro gambler, who escaped by not being detected in the jail, is the happiest darky in Oconee county today, although he is in jail.

Comedy Mingled with Tragedy.

In the midst of even the most serious events the ridiculous will sometimes crop out.

Yesterday in Watkinsville Hon. E. B. Thompson made a little talk to the negroes who had gathered at the scene of the lynching. Mr. Thompson got into a number of them together in a blacksmith shop near the place and told them that the good people of Oconee county had always been their friends, and that in this case they had stood by the defendants and endeavored to bring them to trial in the courts. He told them that they should not feel resentful against the white people of the county, and should not for a moment think of doing anything like those men had done, for if they did they would probably meet the same end.

The darkies listened in silence. They did not give utterance to much in the way of approval or disapproval of what had been said.

Later on in the day there appeared a traveling preacher in Watkinsville. He was distributing cards among the people, and on these cards were simply the words, "Prepare to Meet Thy God."

As he passed this crowd of negroes, who still remained on the streets, he gave each one of them one of these cards. They read them, and in a few minutes the whole crowd was gone.

Today in Watkinsville there are many negroes who are going to the white people in the most friendly manner and asking what is the meaning of those cards that were given them yesterday.

Story of Holbrook Killing.

A few weeks since the county of Oconee was thrown into a fever of excitement one morning upon the announcement that during the night Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Holbrook, a peaceable old couple, had been foully murdered at their home near Watkinsville. They kept a little store, the building being joined to their house.

Early that morning a negro man went down to the store to get some articles wanted by his employer and, to his horror, found the dead bodies of the old man and his wife lying in their blood on the back porch. He gave the alarm and soon hundreds of men were on the scene.

The old man had been called into his store by the murderers and had been attacked there. He had evidently struggled, as the trail of blood ran through the store and into his bed room. Here he was finally clubbed to death, no less than eight wounds being inflicted on his head.

Then it was that Mrs. Holbrook came to the assistance of her husband. She received nine wounds on the head with the same instrument, and also a pistol wound through the brain.

Then the murderers determined that they were not certain the two old people were dead. They dragged their bodies to the back porch and again rained blow after blow upon their heads.

The motive for the crime was robbery and it is believed the murderers got away with fully $300 or $400. Old man Holbrook had that much money at home, having secured it from a land settlement in Banks county a few weeks prior to that time. This money was carried by Mrs. Holbrook in a cloth sack, which she kept next to her breast. The murderers had torn almost every rag of clothing from her body in the effort to find the money and finally succeeded in getting it.

Capture of Negroes.

Immediately the entire county of Oconee became detectives. The crowd made vigorous search for the assassins. They held up every suspicious character in the county. It got so that a negro would drop his hoe and run whenever he saw a white man approaching.

The very first pass they made secured Claud Elder, a young negro, and the next day they got Rich and Lewis Robinson. It required good work to get the facts, but slowly they came out.

The first ray of light came through the confession of Claud Elder, who stated that the two Robinsons and the white man, Lon J. Aycock, were also in the crime. He put the actual crime on Aycock and Lewis Robinson and exculpated himself to the extent that he said he was not in the house at the time of the killing.

Then came the confessions of the two Robinson negroes, who told the whole story. The iron bar with which the old couple were killed was found and the bloody overalls of Lewis Robinson turned up on a creek bank near the place of the killing.

Further search found the cloth sack in which the money was kept by the old lady before her death. It had been ripped open and the contents were gone.

Killed for Five Dollars.

The Robinsons said Aycock planned the whole killing. They said he promised them $5 each for their work. Lewis Robinson gave up five silver dollars which he said Aycock had paid him for the crime. Rich Robinson said he had thrown his away. Claud Elder said had paid him only $1 and had promised to pay the balance in a few days.

They said Aycock marched them away from the scene of the crime and that when near a creek he displayed a roll of bills as large as a man's thigh. He showed twenty-dollar bills and tens in this roll. That was the money he secured from Mrs. Aycock.

Aycock Denied Guilt.

Aycock steadily denied the charge from the beginning. He said he had stayed at the home of his relative, a Mr. Giles, near Watkinsville, that night and knew nothing of the crime. Mr. Giles testified that Aycock and his wife went to bed there at 9 o'clock that night. The killing took place between 10 and 11.

At one time it was thought that blood had been found on the clothes of Aycock. His clothes were examined b Dr. H. C. White, of the University of Georgia, but it was impossible to determine anything about it, as the clothes had been washed thoroughly and the blood had been effaced if it was there. It was reported that the money had been found, but that never materialized.

The strongest circumstantial evidence connecting Aycock with the crime was the fact that he had drawn an order on a man in Athens for $12 a few days before the crime and when he was called on to pay it, didn't have the money. On the day after the killing he had the money and offered to take up the order.

Aycock did not bear the best reputation in the world, and that made very strongly against him. He had been in trouble before in the courts and was regarded as a dangerous man. Nevertheless the evidence had not been secured to fully corroborate the testimony of the negroes. It was the general belief that he was guilty, though some among the citizens of Watkinsville and Oconee county believed him to be innocent.

FORGERY CHARGE NOW FACES KING

Gainesville Insurance Agent Arrested at Homer.

State Agent Dobbins, of the National Life, Suspecting Crooked Work on Part of King, Takes Action as Told in Following Story.

Gainesville, Ga., June 30.—(Special.)—William B. King, for several years a resident of Gainesville, and for some time northeast Georgia representative of the Franklin Life Insurance Company, but more recently special agent of the National Life Insurance Company, was arrested at Homer, Banks county, late last night on a warrant sworn out for forgery at the instigation of Mr. Dobbins, state agent of the last named company, with headquarters in Atlanta, who has been here for several days at work on the case. King is now under indictment on four counts in Forsyth county for the same offense and his cases are set for hearing at Cumming at the next term of Forsyth superior court.

King's alleged forgeries were conducted, it is said, in a wholesale fashion. King's alleged forgeries of more recent date appear to have been about this wise: He would insure an applicant, take cash or note for the premium. If the cash was paid, he would forge a note for the premium, making note payable several months after date, put the money in his picket and forward the note to the company. If the note was given for premium, he would forge a note for an amount corresponding to the principal and forward it to the company. The original note he would trade to some one at a discount. In this manner he is alleged to have defrauded the company out of quite a sum.

Suspecting that some notes in the possession of the company were wrong, Mr. Dobbins, the state agent, came to Gainesville the first of the week to make a full investigation. Two parties whose names were signed to notes in the possession of Mr. Dobbins pronounced them forgeries. The original notes were found in the hands of local parties and were declared by the makers to be all right. After this was ascertained a warrant was sworn out for King's arrest, charging him with forgery, and these warrants were turned over to Sheriff Crow.

Late last night it was ascertained that King was in Banks county yesterday afternoon. Sheriff Crow was apprised of this fact at 11 o'clock last night and he immediately drove through the country to Homer and placed King under arrest.

King stood well in this community for a long while. He came here from Macon and did a good business writing insurance Many people were inclined to discredit the Forsyth county charges when he was arrested some months ago, and as he promptly gave bond the affair gained but little publicity.

THUNDER STORM STOPS ALL CARS

Patrons of Car Company Forced to Suffer Inconvenience.

Thousands of Citizens Kept Waiting at Supper Hour for No Other Reason Than That the Company Feared Injury to Its Cars.

All the street cars in the city were at a standstill early last night for an hour or more.

The cause was the thunder storm that made its appearance shortly after 6:30 o'clock. Just at that hour many people were leaving their work in the city for suburban homes and the stoppage of the cars caused no little inconvenience and caustic comment.

Inquiries at the office of the Georgia Railway and Electric Company during the time that the cars were at a standstill elicited the information that the cars had been stopped for fear the lightning would burn out some of the cars or cause damage to the plant. It was stated that the system was in perfect condition and that traffic would be resumed as soon as the lightning ceased.

In the meantime, however, men and women waited and watched in down town drug stores, doorways and under all available awnings, believing that come accident of a serious nature had stopped the cars.

A Provincial Custom.

The custom of the Georgia Railway and Electric Company in stopping all street car traffic during thunder storms is said to be one that is not practiced by any other first-class street car system in the country. It is declared by patrons of the company that the time the cars are most needed is during a rain storm and that it is an unnecessary hardship to stop traffic at such a time. It is declared that some arrangement should be made whereby the service would not be endangered by a thunder storm that is likely to occur at any time during the summer. Last night cars were stopped without regard to their location in the city and many people were too far from town to reach restaurants and not near enough home to venture to walk. These unfortunates went supperless and their families were occasioned much worry on account of their nonappearance at the supper hour.

However, none of the cars of the street car company and none of its plants suffered any damage from the storm.

HEALTHY IRISHMAN WAITS FOR MAID WITH FINE FIGURE

IF the "wealth maiden, disfigured by an accident, healthy, with perfect form, affectionate and liberal," who has been running a five line ad in The Constitution for the past five Sundays, really "wants a good, kind husband," as she asserts, she can stop the further expenditure of money and secure that husband without trouble or annoyance.

A few lines, printed in The Constitution's personal ads saying where "A Healthy Irishman" may present himself for inspection, will leave nothing but the services of a minister to give the husband-seeking woman all she wants.

For five Sundays, straight and consecutive, there has appeared on one of the many pages The Constitution gives up every Sunday to 10-cent ads a five-liner reading:

"WEALTHY MAIDEN, disfigured by an accident, healthy, perfect form, affectionate and liberal, wants a good, kind husband. Address Liberal, care Constitution."

It was the repetition of the five lines, not the contents of the paragraph, that has brought to the surface "a healthy Irishman," who is willing to chance his future happiness with "Liberal." It has been ascertained by "A Healthy Irishman" that the reappearance of the paragraph every Sunday is not due to an absence of replies. It is known that letters in great number have passed through the mails responding to the request indicated. In fact, the magnitude of that mail would indicate that "Liberal" is somewhat fastidious, somewhat hard to please in selecting a lifetime companion. Or it may be that "Liberal" is only playing a joke and in that play is securing specimens of handwriting for a unique scrap book, and at the same time obtaining signatures, some of which may become valuable as history is day by day making itself.

But if "Liberal" is in earnest, she can easily bring her search to a quick conclusion, as has been indicated. In Atlanta there is a strong, healthy, active, well kept Irishman of education, intelligence and of good standing, who read the five lines on the Sunday of its initial appearance. On the next Sunday his vision was drawn by the same ad. A Sunday later the unbroken sentence came under his observation.

The next Sunday he hunted for it and was satisfied when it was found. Last Sunday it escaped his optical researches at first, and the longer his search continued the greater became his anxiety. Finding it he smiled a very satisfied smile.

"I'll just try it tomorrow. True I've been a widower for the twenty years gone by, and have never ceased to think of that good woman whose ashes are resting peacefully in Tipperary. But a truce to the sadness of the past. I'll bury that and make a search for this lassie."

Monday morning's mail carried a letter to "Liberal," but no reply came that day. Neither did one come yesterday. Last night "A Healthy Irishman" presented himself to the city editor of The Constitution and drawing out the five line ad., said:

"It's her I want to find. Sure, me lad, I'm looking for that lassie."

Then, as though noticing the astonishment written upon the face of the newspaper man, he added:

"Of course she must suit me, just as much as I must suit her. She must be all she says except that 'liberal.' For that I don't care a twopence. I can make a living for any wife I may have—however, I haven't a single one just now. I don't get an answer to my letter and for that reason I come to you. Now if she reads this and asks you about me I'd take it as a special favor of you to give her my address. No, I can't promise a gift of ten thousand for bringing me face to face with her, as I have always made it a rule through life to pay out rewards only after a conviction has been secured."

That "A Healthy Irishman" has been a resident of Atlanta for the past twenty years, and by those who know him he is looked upon as a faithful, conservative and successful business man. Some of the largest and most attractive public buildings of the city are his creation. His name alone stands for all he promises.

He wishes "Liberal" to give "A Healthy Irishman" an opportunity to show that all the handsome men of this generation are not yet dead.

Showers are again the weather promised for Atlanta today.

The forecast yesterday also predicted showers for last night, and these showers came with a force and capacity which literally gave the city one of the greatest tubbings of the season. With great drops and enough wind to give the sweeping effect, sheets of rain swept through the highways in a manner that found pedestrians running to cover, and for a time there were many ladies sheltered in tobacco stores and other places more frequently patronized by men.

The sunshine of the afternoon promised better things, and so it was that very many were caught without umbrellas or any protection from the flying wet. As a matter of fact, umbrellas were of little protection, for the rain was blown from apparently every direction in a way that could not be forestalled.

According to yesterday's weather map, cloudiness was general all over the south, and showers in most of the cotton belt. The temperatures have remained practically stationary in all parts of the country.

CASE OF GAYNOR AND GREENE

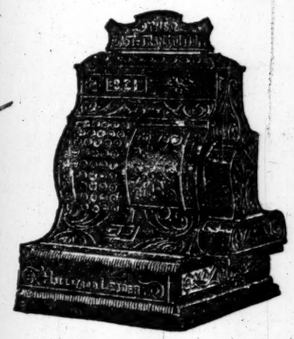

Leave Granted Them To Argue for Habeas Corpus.

Montreal, June 30.—In the Gaynor-Greene case today Judge Ouimet granted the accused the right to argue before him their application for the maintenance of a writ of habeas corpus. The United States claimed that the applications could only be made before a court. Judge Ouimet held, however, that he could have it in chambers. The defense announced that they had counsel on the way to England to appeal before the privy council from the supreme court's decision refusing the writ asked for against Extradition Commissioner LaFontaine by counsel for Gaynor and Greene.

HAVE ANNOUNCED FOR CITY COUNCIL

Charles M. Roberts and J. V. H. Nash Have Offered.

Political Situation Has Opened with Considerable Liveliness, and the Indications Are That Interesting Campaign Is Ahead.

As was predicted by those who supported the ward primary system last year with the result that it was overwhelmingly voted for by the people, the political situations are opening early this year and some of the most prominent young men of the city are making their announcements.

The ward primary system was supported upon the theory that it would compel men to work only among their neighbors and friends in order to secure election, and would do away with the necessity for going into all the wards in the city and engaging in a contest that for heat and work would equal a race for the mayoralty.

The tentative announcements show that some good men have offered for councilman and alderman, while the only two positive announcements that have been made will be entirely gratifying to those who manifest an interest in the government of the city.

The positive announcements have been made by Major Joseph Van Holt Nash, who offers for council from the sixth ward, and Charles M. Roberts, who offers for council from the eighth ward. It is certain that others will soon follow in all the wards of the city, and because of the fact that the ward primary system will prevail this year it is believed that the best council of recent years will be sworn in on the first Monday of next January.

Major Nash Announces.

Major Joseph Van Holt Nash announces as a candidate for council from the sixth ward, to succeed Councilman Anton L. Kontz, who, it is understood, will be a candidate for alderman from the sixth.

Major Nash has been a resident of Atlanta for nearly thirty years, and is one of our most prominent and successful business men. He was, for many years in the insurance business and later became associated with his father, Hon. Joseph Van Holt Nash, in the management of the business of the American Book Company, and at the death of his father succeeded to the management of the business.

Major Nash has always been prominent in military affairs. When the call was made by Governor Atkinson for volunteers in the Spanish-American war, Major Nash was the second man in Georgia to organize a company and have it mustered into the service of the United States, and he served with his company in the Second Georgia regiment until peace was declared.

Announcement of Chas. M. Roberts.

Charles M. Roberts, who announces for council from the eighth ward, to succeed Councilman H. C. Bagley, is one of the best known young men of the city, as well as one of the most prominent in the business circles.

He is the son of Captain E. M. Roberts, a leading citizen for fifty years, and he is associated with his father in the real estate business. He was for several years with the Lowry national bank.

Mr. Roberts was born and reared in Atlanta, and was educated at the public schools here. He has always manifested the deepest interest in everything connected with the upbuilding of the city, and his friends are sure that he will be as successful in working for the civic advancement as he has been in the management of his private business.

Dr. T. D. Longino May Run.

Considerable interest attaches to the announcement that prominent men of the seventh ward have petitioned Dr. T. D. Longino to again serve as councilman from that section of the city. Dr. Longino has served his ward as both councilman and alderman, and the city he has served as mayor pro tem. In all these places he made excellent records, and, therefore, the announcement that he is considering a second term as councilman will be learned with gratification by his friends.

W. A. Hansell, Sr., May Run.

Announcement was made yesterday that the friends of Captain W. A. Hansell were petitioning him to run for council from the second ward this year. Captain Hansell is one of the best known men in Atlanta. He is connected with the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Coompany and is one of the conservative business men. He is the brother in law of Captain R. M. Clayton, the chief engineer of Atlanta.

Found Stockade Clean.

Council's committee on prisons, of which Councilman Wikle is chairman, yesterday made an inspection of the city stockade and will report to the general council next Monday afternoon that the presentments of the grand jury regarding the prison are unfounded.

In an interview yesterday the chairman of the committee said:

"The council committee has no desire to criticise the grand jury or to ascribe to the members of that body any but the best motives. We made a coreful inspection of the stockade, however, and found the conditions there about as good as could be expected under the circumstances. The floors are clean, the walls clean and the bedding clean. We inspected the bedding with a miscroscope and failed to find any vermin. As for the water facilities the same apparatus is being used as in the public schools. We found no stagnant water and all pipes seemed to be thoroughly flushed."

Ordinance Committee Meets.

Three measures of unusual importance will be considered by the ordinance committee, of which Councilman Ellis is chairman, this morning.

One is the anti-gambling ordinance of Councilman Goodwin. This is practically the same measure that was defeated during the last session of council. The author believes that in its present modified form it has a better chance for adoption. He will be present this morning to show cause for a favorable report.

The ordinance of Councilman Oldknow, which provides that cemetery lots be sold by the city to the highest bidders after due notice, has been given in the papers, will be reported upon. It is certain that the ordinance will not pass in that shape. The members of the committee are opposed to selling cemetery lots at auction. It seems probable that the committee will provide that some other body than the cemetery committee be requested to fix the price for the lots and that they then be sold to whoever will pay the price for them.

The third ordinance of importance is the measure of Alderman McEachern, which repeals so much of the recent liquor extension ordinance as permits the sale of liquors in the new terminal station.

The police committee, of which Councilman Oldknow is chairman, will meet this morning at 10 o'clock in the committee room at city hall. At 10:30 o'clock the ordinance committee will meet, and at 11 o'clock the ordinance committee meets jointly with the cemetery committee, of which Councilman Hilburn is chairman.

Last Day for Licenses.

This is the last day for securing whisky and beer licenses of all kinds.

July 5 will be the last day for securing licenses for all other kinds of business.

The licenses may be secured from the office of City Clerk Campbell in the city hall.

No Signs on Bridges.

J. W. Hill, Charles Black and J. G. Oglesby, Jr., have withdrawn their application for the privilege of placing signs upon the viaducts and bridges of the city. There was much opposition in council to the grant.

Board of Health Met.

The board of health, of which Dr. C. F. Benson is president, met yesterday afternoon in the city hall. Routine matters were attended to.

J. HAMILTON LEWIS' FIGHT IN DEFENSE OF MRS. LEWIS

CHICAGO, June 30.—E. B. Shaw, wealthy business man and automobilist, and J. Hamilton Lewis, former congressman, figured in a fight at the Monroe entrance of the Palmer house over what the latter regarded as an insult to Mrs. Lewis. Dan O'Neill, a saloonkeeper, went to Mr. Lewis' aid, and knocked Shaw down. Shaw's injuries were attended to in a neighboring drug store and he was taken home in a cab.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were leaving the hotel when Shaw, who is said to have been drinking, lurched into Mrs. Lewis and is declared to have said something opprobrious. She screamed, and Mr. Lewis landed on Shaw's face. Shaw, who is an athlete, pitched into the former congressman, who is a physical lightweight, and was having the best of the mixup when O'Neill took a hand and almost knocked Shaw out.

While Shaw lay on the pavement O'Neill went for a policeman and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis hurried away. Mr. Lewis was formerly of Georgia.

GOOD BEER USED TO FLUSH SEWERS OF BUCKEYE TOWN

XENIA, OHIO, June 30.—The sewers of Xenia were today flushed with hundreds of barrels of beer, notwithstanding this is a "dry" town and hydrant water is plentiful. It was caused by the visit of a government inspector from Dayton to the Brinkle & Reading brewery, who formerly manufactured Weiss beer, a "dry town" beverage, but which for several months has been in the hands of a receiver, and they preferred to forfeit the beer rather than pay the required government tax thereon.

BURNED "FAKIR" ON BREAST OF PATIENT AT HOSPITAL

NEW YORK, June 30.—Charged with burning the word "Fakir" across the chest of an immigrant while administering thermo-cautery for neuralgic pains, Dr. Dubois Hunt, an interne in Gouver Neur's hospital, has been dismissed from the institution. Investigation of the complaint made by Isaac Chaves, recently landed in this country, that he had been branded while at the hospital, resulted in this action. Dr. Hunt admitted that he had almost involuntarily burned the letters on the man's skin after one of his fellow physicians had passed through the operating room and said the belief that Chaves was a fakir had led him to do it. Dr. Hunt says he meant no harm by the action and that the burns were of a temporary nature only.

TAFT JOURNEYS TO PHILIPPINES

Miss Alice Roosevelt Member of Secretary's Party.

PaPrty Occupies Two Special Cars. While in Orient Secretary Taft Will Call on the Emperor of Japan.

Washington, June 30.—William H. Taft, secretary of war, accompanied by a distinguished party, including members of both houses of congress, army officers, the daughter of the president, Miss Alice Roosevelt, and others, began their journey to the Philippine islands at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. The party embarked in two special cars on the regular Chicago train over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. At the station to say goodby were the French ambassador and Mme Jusserand, Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister; Assistant Secretary of War Oliver, General and Mrs. Chaffee and numerous other friends of the party.

Trip of Inspection.

Although Secretary Taft expects to have a relief from the arduous duties of the past few months during his absence, the trip is one of official inspection and many matters of administration will be considered. At Chicago he will meet and confer with John F. Stephens, who was appointed today to succeed Chief Engineer Wallace, of the Panama canal commission. He will also confer with W. A. Darling, with whom negotiations are pending to take the place of Mr. Stephens, who was to have been a member of the Philippine party, and remain in the islands in charge of the construction of railroads manned by government subsidy. Should present negotiations prove satisfactory Mr. Darling may accompany the secretary.

Stop in San Francisco.

A stay of four days will be made in San Francisco, which is to be reached July 4. An important consideration in the Philippines to which Secretary Taft will give his attention is the perfection of title to many acres of the friar lands which is still considered cloudy and by reason of which the purchase price of the lands of the whole Dominican order is being withheld.

An interesting feature of the trip will be the call of the secretary on the emperor of Japan at Tokio. The Japanese minister here has assured the secretary that his government is desirous of extending every courtesy possible. The secretary's response to this was that he well understood that the palace would be vacated by the imperial family on account of the summer season, at the time of his visit to Tokio and that his call would simply be the formal "card call" of respect.

Three months are to be consumed in the trip, including a stay of one week in Manila and a trip around the islands occupying ten days.

CASE REFERRED TO WASHINGTON

As to Whether Muscogee or United States Shall Support Prisoner.

Columbus, Ga., June 30.—(Special.)—The attorney general of the United States will pass upon the case of an alleged moonshiner, now in Muscogee county jury, who has become insane. Charles Griffin, of Meriwether county, a negro, is the prisoner in question. He has become insane since being incarcerated. The question that has arisen is, shall the county of Muscogee or the United States bear the expense of his lunacy trial? The problem was such that United States Commissioner Brown referred it to District Attorney Angier, and Mr. Angier has in turn referred it to the attorney general of the United States.

Great Automobile Carnival.

Chicago, June 30.—After weeks of preparation, the great Chicago-St. Paul automobile carnival tour is on. Shortly after 9 o'clock today about fifty machines started on their 500-mile trip across country roads. The procession was an imposing one, all the machines being decorated. No effort will be made to hang up new records for the trip.

Home Missions Discussed.

Asheville, N. C., June 30.—At tonight's session of the conference of leaders of the Young People's Societies, held at Kenilworth inn under the auspices of the Young People's missionary movement, Dr. A. L. Phillips, secretary of the Sunday schools and Young People's Societies of the Presbyterian church, south, spoke on the subject of home missions.

The last of the denominational group meetings for the study of mission methods considered best adapted to each church was held today and tomorrow there will be a union of mission study classes.

DAY IN CHURCHES TO BE NOTABLE

Three Services of Especial Interest Are Arranged.

Three specially notable services will occur tomorrow in local churches and the Young Men's Christian Association promises for its regular Sunday congregation of men a service of unusual attractiveness.

Dr. Broughton will go for the gamblers in his Sunday night sermon. Speaking of his intentions, he says:

"The veto of the anti-gambling ordinance by the mayor and his being sustained by the council shows that there is something rotten somewhere. I propose to show it up. I propose to show who really defeated that anti-gambling ordinance, and why it was done. Maybe the people of this city will get their eyes opened some of these days."

At the Central Presbyterian church Dr. Theron H. Rice will preach both morning and night, and as it will soon be time for his departure on his summer vacation, the services both morning and night are arranged to be of special interest.

At Westminster Presbyterian church special services have also been arranged for. In the morning the pastor, Rev. Charles R. Nisbet, will preach from the subject: "Enoch Walked With God." At night there will be a special service, at which time three ten-minute talks will be made by as many interesting speakers.

"The Organization of Westminster Church and Her Early Days"—Rev. Lucian L. Knight.

"The Growth and Prospects of Westminster Church"—Rev. Charles R. Nisbet.

"The Obligation of the Local Church to the Church at Large"—Rev. W. G. Woodbridge.

Meeting for Men.

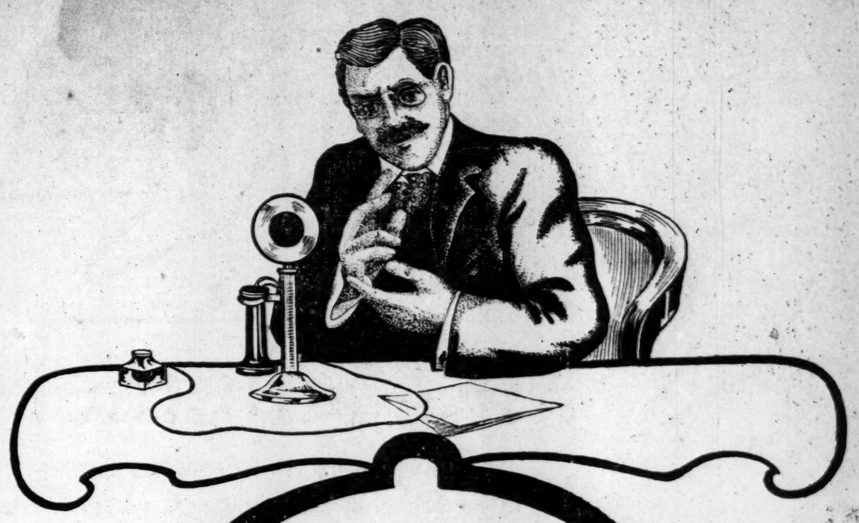

The meeting for men at the Young Men's Christian Association promises to be one of the most interesting held in a long time. The reputation of Mr. Flinn as a thoughtful, earnest speaker is well known. His subject for the afternoon will be: "Now, Then, Do It!" and all who attend this service may expect to be helped by it.

An unusual feature of the meeting will be a sacred concert, in which the phonograph will be used to give several of the best of sacred selections. At that time a few records used during the great Torry-Alexander meetings in London and Australia during the past three months will be used.

WILD BEASTS AND SERPENTS FLOATED TO BUENOS AYRES

BUENOS AYRES, June 30.—The recent inundation of the river Parana has had stronge consequences. The docks of Buenos Ayres and the harbor have been invaded by floating islands of land torn from the banks of the Parana. These have brought hosts of tropical animals, hundreds of big serpents and many crocidiles. Even a tiger cub has been captured within the harbor and delivered to the zoological gardens.

WANTS VETERINARY SURGEON

Representative King Will Ask Legislature To Create Such Position.

Covington, Ga., June 30.—(Special.)—A measure that is believed to be of considerable importance to the agricultural interests of Geargia which will be introduced at this session of the legislature is the bill of Representative J. W. King, of this county, authorizing an appropriation for the maintenance of a veterinary branch of the state agricultural department.

Representative King believes that such a department is necessary and would be the means of saving the stock dealers of the state thousands of dollars every year. When infectious diseases break out among cattle, as often occurs in various sectoins of the state, the services of a state veterinary surgeon would, it is thought, be valuable in the way of establishing strict quarantine regulations and devising other means of checking the contagion.

TRIAL OF SENATOR MITCHELL

Thurston Speaks for Defense—Case Goes to Jury Today.

Portland, Ore., June 30.—Ex-Senator John M. Thurston began his argument in the defense of United States Senator John H. Mitchell, in the United States circuit court today. He said he had seen the old statesman in comparative poverty in Washington after twenty-four years' service in the United States senate, and he knew in his heart that the senator, who lived after twenty-four years' in the senate, lived as Senator Mitchell lived, was an honest man.

He alleged that the mass of testimony introduced by the government did not substantiate the counts of the indictment, but was a lot of irrelevant matter that had been introduced to influence the jury.

The case cannot now go to the jury until tomorrow.

THAT DIVINE CALL!

In the speech at Madison, which marked the opening of his campaign for the governorship of Georgia, Mr. Hoke Smith dwelt with much unction upon the motive which he says impels him to make this race, claiming that he has the inspiration of a Divine Call.

The cry is not an unfamiliar one.

The Divine Call catchword has been resorted to from time immemorial by politicians seeking to promote their own ends, and it comes with no surprise to find it adopted now; nor, it may be said in passing, will it surprise anybody to find it taken up in future contests. If, however, we are to judge the present and the future by the past not every man who assumes unto himself such inspiration has warrant for doing so.

It is undoubtedly true that in real crises in the world's history, the Divine Power which directs the affairs of men has marked for leadership certain great men whose lives have proven them in every way worthy—men whose devotion to the principles they advocated has had no tarnish of selfishness, no taint of hypocritical pretense. But the lessons of history do not teach that at any time was a Saracen Divinely marked for leadership in the Crusades; that a Tory was ever given a Divine Call to lead the patriot forces in the days of the great struggle which brought the country's independence; that a PHARISEE was ever given a Divine Call to lead the Christian hosts.

Since Mr. Smith lays claim to a Divine Call to leadership in this campaign, it is proper at this time to investigate some features of that gentleman's public record with a view to discovering whether that record proves him to have been inspired by that devotion to principle which must be the first requisite to a leadership for which he assumes the Divine stamp of approval.

We confess to some surprise that Mr. Smith did not see fit to reply, in his Madison speech, to some of the charges that have been publicly made against him—charges that in their very nature bear directly upon his assumption of a Divine Call.

Inasmuch, however, as he did not see fit to make reference to these charges—vitally important as they are in the light of his claims—The Constitution feels the necessity, in the interest of truth, of bringing his record of consistency before the lime-light of publicity.

To illustrate—there was no reference in Mr. Smith's speech to the charge openly made against him that when he retired from the cabinet of President Cleveland, he returned to Atlanta by way of Wall street, where he had borrowed, for himself or for his newspaper, The Atlanta Journal, a sum said to be $50,000, obtained through the indorsement of the president of the Southern railway!

Perhaps such a loan was not in itself extraordinary. But the fact that he obtained the money through such influences—if he did, as has been publicly charged—becomes of particular public interest and importance when the further fact is taken into consideration that the newspaper which he owned, and whose policies were at all times directed by him, had up to that time been violently antagonizing and attacking the railroads and railroad combinations in Georgia, and that FROM THAT TIME FORWARD UNTIL IT CHANGED HANDS SEVERAL YEARS LATER it was as silent as a clam upon the subject.

In the light of this charge, openly made and not denied, would it be anything more than natural if the people of Georgia were inclined to question whether Mr. Hoke Smith is the kind and character of a man to whom would be given a Divine Call to lead an anti-railroad campaign?

But this is not the only episode in Mr. Smith's career that, it seems to the people of Georgia, calls for explanation in the light of his present claims. If the silence of his newspaper in the face of the coincidence of this particular loan were the only thing charged against him, that episode might be passed over, as being only a "first offense."

Bear in mind that up to this period, Mr. Smith's paper—reflecting the high and lofty principles which its proprietor declared to be inspiring his actions and public utterances—had been most vigorously attacking the railroads and railroad combinations—as vigorously, indeed, as Mr. Smith as candidate for office does now. The sudden cessation of attack, coincident with the alleged loan, was followed by a lawsuit brought by the Dunlap Company of Macon against the railroad consolidation—a suit based in great measure upon the very contentions which had previously been advanced in Mr. Smith's newspaper. Even now we can recall the great surprise that was felt all over Georgia when there appeared upon the scene, to argue in defense of the very combination he and his newspaper had so often attacked—Mr. Hoke Smith!

AT THE TIME IT WAS STATED HE APPEARED IN RESPONSE TO THE SEDUCTIVE INFLUENCE OF A FIVE THOUSAND DOLLAR FEE.

May that not, after all, have been a Divine Call?

And again: The Central of Georgia bought the Macon and Northern line from Macon to Athens. An injunction was asked on the ground that the sale was contrary to the competitive clause of the state's constitution. The injunction was decided in favor of the railroad companies' contention in Putnam county on September 18, 1899. The state appealed, but the supreme court affirmed the decision of the lower court, which was favorable to the railroad companies, holding that the constitutional provision prohibiting contracts defeating or lessening competition only applied to such consolidations as prevented general competition, and did not apply to combinations of railroad companies which merely resulted in defeating incidental competition at mere points or particular places. Joe Terrell, Joe Turner, S. T. Wingfield and W. H. Burwell appealed for plaintiff (state of Georgia), in the supreme court, and Lawton & Cunningham, Joseph R. Lamar, Thomas G. Lawson and H. A. Jenkins for the railroad companies.

The official report, volume 109, Georgia Reports, page 718, has the following statement:

"HOKE SMITH ARGUED IN SUPPORT OF THE DEFENSE FOR PARTIES NOT OF RECORD, BUT INTERESTED IN THE RESULT."

Was that another Divine Call?

Some time ago the merchants of Atlanta attacked in the United States court the Southeastern Freight Traffic Association on the ground that its operations were violative of the interstate commerce law. An effort was made to prosecute the railroad officials upon an indictment for conspiracy. The organization was the same, or essentially the same, as that attacked by Mr. Smith in his speech at Madison, and declared by him to be illegal. Who should appear before that court in behalf of the railroads and their organization but Mr. Hoke Smith.

WAS THAT ANOTHER DIVINE CALL? OR WAS HIS PRESENCE DUE TO THE $2,500 FEE HE IS UNDERSTOOD TO HAVE BEEN PAID?

The Constitution has some personal knowledge of the character of inspiration that has induced Mr. Smith to appear as attorney in certain proceedings more recently brought before the courts in the interest of the merchants and business men of Atlanta. We refer to the recent, and now pending, freight rate cases. The Constitution has been a consistent supporter of the efforts of the merchants of Atlanta to secure lower rates and a more equitable adjustment of rate schedules. Cooperating with the merchants and other public spirited citizens, The Constitution has contributed liberally to a fund to bring the issue with the railroads to a test in the courts. What was Mr Hoke Smith's interest in this movement? That of a paid attorney! The Constitution knows there was no Divine Call in this case—knows it by the fact of its own contribution toward the payment of Mr. Hoke Smith's fee, through the Atlanta Freight Bureau.

WILL IT BE CLAIMED IN MR. SMITH'S DEFENSE THAT HIS CONDUCT HAS BEEN SIMPLY THAT OF AN ATTORNEY WHO MAY TAKE A FEE WHEN AND WHERE HE CAN FIND IT? WHAT BECOMES, THEN, OF THE DIVINE CALL TO FIGHT THE RAILROADS? HOW DIVINE IS A CALL THAT CAN BE DRIVEN TO THE TALL TIMBERS BY A FEW DOLLARS OR A FEW THOUSAND OF THEM?

There are lawyers in Georgia—and very many of them—who have knowledge of the ethics of the great profession to which they are attached. Such men would suffer any punishment rather than place themselves in the ignominious position of defending for a fee that which as private citizens or as owners of newspapers, they had been branding as inimical to the welfare, the interests and the rights of the people.

There are lawyers—very many of them—who would not sell themselves, their newspapers, if they possessed them, or their convictions; who could not for a fee of $2,500 or one of $5,000—or even for a loan of ten times as much—be induced to give themselves over to the promotion of that which they, as citizens, had denounced as an infamy on the people. We have been told that Mr. Smith entertains a different notion of the ethics of the profession from that held by the majority of his brethren; this cursory examination into some of the features of that gentleman's career inclines us to believe he has.

Under ordinary circumstances The Constitution might have paid no attention to these and other charges that have been made against Mr. Hoke Smith; but when in giving reason for his candidacy for office, he advances the bold, preposterous and almost sacrilegious declaration that he is a Divine Instrument, some analysis of his claim of being Providentially ordained is plainly called for.

WITH THIS RECORD OF MONEY-INSPIRED WOBBLING BEFORE THEM, IS IT NOT AN INSULT TO THE INTELLIGENCE OF THE PEOPLE OF GEORGIA TO ASK THEM TO BELIEVE THAT MR. SMITH'S PRESENT ASSUMPTION OF LEADERSHIP IN HIS PROPOSED ONSLAUGHT UPON THE RAILROADS IS IN RESPONSE TO A DIVINE CALL?

Russia on the Brink.

Sergius Witte, the Russian ex-premier, a man usually of temperate expressions and the best informed Russian in public life, seems to have been speaking out of an ample knowledge of the domestic status in that unhappy nation when he declared a few days ago that the sins of the autocracy had brought the government to the very brink of disintegration. M. Witte's pessimistic remarks were inspired by the vacillating peace and reform policy of the St. Petersburg cliques. The developments of the last few days in Poland have fully confirmed his gloomy predictions, if, indeed, they do not display the Russian government in more imminent peril of revolution than at any period within the sweep of the present dynasty.

People of conservaive habits have maintained a certain reserve regarding the somewhat free predictions of a general upheaval. Even in the face of the atrocities in St. Petersburg on that memorable January Sunday, the later Polish riots, the czar's childish juggling with the popular appeals, and the series of disasters at the front, it has not until the present moment been convincingly apparent that the government was losing its grip on the tiller and that revolution really threatened. The concensus of opinion pronounced that the great Russian provincial masses were too sodden in ignorance, too absolutely under the domination of the crafty priesthood, too helpless in their very clumsiness to respond in a dangerous degree to the incendiary influences of such large centers as Moscow, St. Petersburg, Lodz, Warsaw and other important industrial and revolutionary points.

The events of the last few days have dispelled these illusions. Lodz, Odessa and Warsaw, pulsating with resentment against the harsh attempt of the government to put down the outbreaks and urged on by hidden political influences, have apparently fired the train which may blast on the pages of history a drama broader in its gruesome scope, more terrible in its gory details than that which marked the end of autocracy in France. Despairing attempts to suppress the tidings of the revolutionary movement have failed, and we are told that within twenty-four hours the slaughter at Lodz and the mutiny at Odessa have been reported "by word of mouth" from end to end of the gigantic empire of Russia. These grim recitals, it may easily be imagined, are not calculated to soothe the spirits of those simple, peace-loving peasants constituting the backbone of the nation.

One of the most significant features of the crisis, however, is the frank manner in which the Associated Press estimates its import. That magnificent news-gathering organization is singularly accurate and judicial in its observations; it does not go off at a tangent and it gives to all situations a conservative rather than a radical or "yellow" construction. Here is the plain language in which it outlines the present domestic status:

The Russian government, although it has been almost paralyzed by the terrible events at Odessa and the news that the sailors at Libau also have mutinied, is making desperate and even frantic efforts to meet the situation, and to stamp the flames of revolution before they can spread to the army, which is now the last bulwark of the autocracy.

With Poland red with the spirit of revolt, the Caucasus already almost in a state of civil war, agrarian disorders spreading rapidly, the whole country profoundly stirred and the intelligent classes solidly arrayed against the government, all conditions seem ripe for the long predicted revolution.

The world will watch the developments of the next few weeks with intense interest. It is possible that the government may weather the storm now breaking from so many quarters; or it may be the fate of this generation to witness the enactment of one of the most unique and ghastly chapters in the dramatic annals of history.

Heyward and Eloquence.

Southern oratory simply defies the hardening process of commercialization which we are told has laid a chilling hand on the eloquence of our nation. It may be that true oratory is decadent in other sections, and that the exacting demands of this strenuous age have caused a relegation of all that savors of poetry and word painting in the addresses of the average public speaker; but we are grateful that when the occasion and inspiration meet, the southern orator can yet speak with the tongues of men and of angels."

These remarks are given special point by the address of Governor Heyward, of South Carolina, before the society of that name in Atlanta several nights ago. The speech read well in print; a rather delicate test, since metaphors and finished periods which light the enthusiasm of an audience within range of an orator's voice often seem cold and meaningless in unemotional type removed from the thawing infuences of the banquet hall. It cannot be denied, however, even in this instance, that enjoyment of Governor Heyward's speech was greatly enhanced by proximity to the orator under whose musical tones, discriminating gestures and abandonment of pose the well-chosen words assumed a new charm.

It is a distinct source for congratulation that this gift of eloquence—"logic on fire," as Thomas B. Reed aptly denominated it—is a peculiar characteristic of southern speakers, and that in its transmission from father to son it appears to have lost none of its marvelously appealing qualities. Since, moreover, its possession has proven an aid rather than a handicap in the development of shrewd, matter-of-fact southern business men, it is to be viewed as one of the most desirable assets in the academic equipment of our stalwart sons of the platform and the forum.

Secretary Hay Much Better.

Newbury, N. H., June 30.—The improvement of Secretary of State John Hay's condition today was even more marked than on yesterday. Dr. Murphy stated today that Mr. Hay would be able to leave his bed by Sunday.

"JUST FROM GEORGIA."

Take It Easy!

I.

Just let the old thermometer
Do deadly work for all!
If they fry you in the summer,
Never freeze you in the fall!
If you die
Hot an' dry,
December won't hang icicles
For you around the sky!

II.

Won't be much to burn hereafter
When you reach the other clime,
If the July sun should roast you
Just a summer 'fore your time!
If you fry
In July,
You'll never freeze when winter
Hangs with icicles the sky!

III

Then welcome to the weather,
If you fry, or if you freeze!
The birds sing all together,
And it's good time for the bees!
Song or sigh,
Drowned or dry,
We'll reach the land o' promise
In the sunbright by an' by!

The Woes of the Millionaire.

"What have the brethren to say of me in the papers this morning?" asked the martyr-millionaire.

"Just the same as usual," replied the secretary. "You're no good."

"Not one kind word?"

"Yes; there's a brief note will interest you. I'll read it to you: 'If you will send me a check for $50 God will bless you. I can't!'"

"An' if the lightning itself cannot stand it—
The grumblin' an' growlin' on high,
Much less kin a poor human creetur'
Under the bend o' the sky!
But he hain't got the wings o' the lightnin',
To git up, an' hustle, an' fly!"

NEGROES JUMPED FROM TRAIN

Excitement Caused at Americus by Laborers Deserting Contractor.

Americus, Ga., July 30.—(Special.)—Considerable excitement was created here this morning when a large number of negro laborers, being transported from Savannah to Albany to work in a lumber camp, jumped from a moving Central railway train and sought safety in flight. The first report current was that the runaways were escaped convicts. The contractor having the men in charge invoked the assistance of the Americus police and several of the men were recaptured, the others hiding in the city. The negroes declared they were being carried much further from home than they had agreed to go, hence the break for liberty when the train reached Americus.

WILL INAUGURATE GOVERNOR TODAY

Governor Terrell will be inaugurated for his second term as governor of Georgia before a joint session of the house and senate at 11 o'clock this morning, that being the hour fixed by the committee on inauguration as reported to the house yesterday by Chairman Revill, of Meriwether.

The oath of office will be administered by Chief Justice T. J. Simmons, of the supreme court, after which Governor Terrell will deliver his inaugural address.

Governor Terrell will serve as governor for two years longer and begins his second term with the increased salary of $5,000, which was given by the last legislature. It is expected that the inauguration today will prove quite an interesting event.

The Farmers' Cooperative Union.

(From The Atlanta Journal of Labor.)

The world is receiving almost daily evidence to prove that the great spirit that underlies and inspires the working class movement to establish higher standards of living for the masses will not down.

Hardly does one organized effort grow to its zenith and go to pieces before another comes marching on, more determined and wiser, and the hopes of the workers thrill the deeper.

The great union labor movement as comprehended in the American Federation of Labor is one wing of the movement which has maintained its integrity, weathered every storm and grows wiser and braver and stronger with each succeeding battle.

Seemingly, as a supplement to and inspired by this great urban or mechanic movement, now comes the Farmers' National Educational and Cooperative Union—born in Texas a few years ago and now established in every southern state and many throughout the north and west.

A paragraph in the recent address of ex-President Jerome Jones, before the Georgia Federation of Labor, wherein he spoke of an affiliation with the farming element, was read by President Charles S. Barrett, of the Georgia Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union, who was impressed with the suggestion, and said he saw no reason why such an affiliation could not be consummated. Both organiaztions were striving for the same end.

As to the general principles and aims of this organization we can do no better than to let President Charles S. Barrett, of the Georgia branch of the organization, who is in Atlanta this week, speak—ae one possessed of personal knowledge and official authority. He said:

"To be brief: We are organized to discourage, as much as possible, the present mortgage and credit system; to assist our members in buying and selling; to foster the science of crop diversification and scientific agriculture; to strive to secure harmony and good will among all mankind and brotherly love among ourselves; to secure the more rigid and impartial enforcement of the law—that crime, vice and immorality may be suppressed. We would garner the tears of the distressed, the blood of martyrs, the laugh of innocent childhood, the sweat of honest labor and the virtue of a happy home as the brightest jewels known.

"This is in no degree a political party, and shall forever abstain from even so much as a discussion of partyism. Yet we do not feel that it is our right to place shackles upon the mind nor a padlock upon the lips of anyone who may wish to discuss, for educational purposes, the science of government—for upon this rock all important structures must rest for either mental, moral or financial development."

As to the community of interests or possibilities for cooperation between organized labor and the organized farmers, evidence is shown in the fact that in Texas, in every case they have acted jointly victory has crowned their efforts.

In matters of legislation, in Texas, they have got everything they have jointly, gone after.

SENATE OPPOSES SHIP SUBSIDY

Resolution Favoring Congressional Legislation Is Tabled.

Friday Was a Quiet Day in the Senate, and Adjournment Was Taken Until Next Wednesday—Detail of the Session Yesterday.

Aside from tabling a resolution which appeared to favor ship subsidy legislation, which has been pending for several years before the congress of the United States, and the introduction of a number of bills, very little business was transacted in the senate yesterday.

HON. E. A. COPELAN,
Senator from the Nineteenth District, Who Introduced the Resolution Favoring Congressional Legislation on Ship Subsidy.

Senator E. A. Copeland, of the nineteenth district, introduced a resolution which contained the following section:

"We favor the passage by congress of some measure to build up our merchant marine and give us our prestige upon the high seas. We recommend that the senators and members of the house of representatives from Georgia favor in congress some just and equitable measure that will accomplish the above results."

The resolution provoked some discussion, it being contended that it favored the ship subsidy question, which has been up before the last two congresses of the United States. The resolution was tabled.

A resolution was introduced and passed inviting Hon. T. J. Appleyard, secretary of the Florida senate, to a seat on the floor of the senate.

After a number of bills had been introduced the senate, at 11 o'clock, repaired to the house of representatives, where a joint session of the two houses was held and the votes for governor, secretary of state and state treasurer were consolidated, and the election of the incumbents declared.

Upon reconvening in the senate chamber it was announced that the house had concurred in the senate resolution providig that the general assembly adjourn after July 1 to meet again July 5, and that July 3 and 4 be declared dies non.

An invitation to the senate from the mayor of Barnesville was then read inviting the senate to attend the Barnesville chautauqua July 4. Upon motion of Senator Blalock, of the twenty-sixth, the invitation was accepted.

Before the motion was carried Senator Hamby called the senate's attention to the fact that the senate had already accepted an invitation from Clayburn, Rabun county, to attend a barbecue there July 4. The senators decided, however, that they would accept both invitations and those who could not go to Clayton would go to Barnesville.

The senate adjourned at 1:30 to meet this morning at 10 o'clock.

STATE GOSSIP CAUGHT IN CAPITOL CORRIDORS

HON. J. F. L. BOND,
Of Danielsville, Ga., Senator from the Thirtieth District and President Pro Tem. of the Body.

HON. S. E. LEIGH,
Of Coweta, Who Made a Strong Speech in Condemnation of the Watkinsville Lynching.

DURING the debate in the house yesterday on the resolution offered by Mr. Wright, of Richmond, condemning the recent lynching of eight men at Watkinsville and urging immediate action in the matter of bringing to justice the guilty parties, one of the strongest speeches in favor of the passage of the resolution was made by Hon. S. E. Leigh, of Coweta. Mr. Leigh is a prominent farmer of his county, and a member who takes an active interest in all important matters of legislation coming before the house.

In addressing the house, Mr. Leigh said:

"Referring to the pending resolution, I wish to say that of all the dangers that threaten the republic the one, in my judgment, that towers above all others is the danger of lynching, when the infuriated mob in disregard of all law and order and public decency imbues its hands in the blood of helpless human beings.

"While I am a Georgian, a southerner, if you please, whose father and brothers followed the stars and bars from Sumter to Appomatox, and who still loves the Lost Cause, and while I recognized the fact that this is a white man's country and I have not lost faith in Anglo-Saxon supremacy, yet I wish to go on record as indorsing fully, heartily the resolution introduced by the gentleman from Richmond.

"Notwithstanding the facts that the horrors perpetrated in my county are still fresh in memory, the devilish deed of Joe Dean, who lured the father from his house at the dark hour of midnight and foully murdered him, and was only foiled in his attempt to commit a worse crime by the young girl, who used the shotgun on the black fiend, and that of Sam Hose, who murdered the husband and assaulted the young wife with her helpless babe in her arms, notwithstanding the fact that these heinous crimes are still fresh in memory, I can still rise above prejudice to the sublime height of duty as a Georgian true to the best interests of my native state, and do justice to the negro as a citizen and as a human being. I sincerely hope, Mr. President, that the house will pass this resolution without a single dissenting voice."

President Pro Tem. Bond.

Senator J. F. L. Bond, of the thirtieth district, who was recently elected president pro tem. of the state senate, is one of the best known lawyers in his section of the state.

Senator Bond was born on a farm near Madison Springs, in Madison county, January 23, 1862, and graduated from the law department of the state university in June, 1890. He located at Danielsville, Ga., in 1891, where he has since been engaged in the practice of his profession. December 16, 1891, he married Miss Lena Thornton, of Hartwell.

Mr. Bond was elected to the house of representatives from Madison county in 1896, and reelected in 1898, thus serving his county in that branch of the general assembly during four years.

In 1900 Mr. Bond was chosen chairman of the democratic party of Madison county, to which position he was reelected in 1902.

He was elected last October as state senator from the thirtieth district, composed of the counties of Elbert, Oglethorpe and Madison. He takes deep and active interest in matters of legislation, and will undoubtedly be heard from during the session which has just begun.

Investigating the Lynching.

Governor Terrell did not await the action of the legislature to begin an investigation of the lynching in Oconee county with a view to bringing the guilty parties to justice.

While the house was yesterday discussing the resolution calling for this investigation, Solicitor General S. J. Tribble, of that circuit, was already in Watkinsville by direction of Governor Terrell looking into the affair.

The governor has not yet offered any rewards for the apprehension of members of the mob, but will await the report of Solicitor General Tribble. It is expected that he will take prompt action in the matter immediately upon the receipt of this report.

For Railroad Commissioner.

Hon. John T. Williams, of Jones county, one of the most prominent citizens of his section of the state, and one who has friends all over Georgia, came to Atlanta yesterday accompanied by a delegation of friends for the purpose of urging his application before Governor Terrell for the office of railroad commissioner.

Mr. Williams and his friends had a conference with Governor Terrell regarding the matter, and the governor stated he would take it under careful consideration. Mr. Williams has presented some strong indorsements to the governor, a number of prominent Georgians having urged his appointment.

Mr. Williams resides at Haddock, Ga., and is connected in an official capacity with the coming state fair to be held in Atlanta.

Takes to Politics.

"Some men find it hard to let smoking alone," remarked a prominent young politician yesterday, "and some find it hard to let whisky alone. My friend, Julian McCurry, of Hart, has always found it hard to let politics alone.

"It's just simply born in him, and he could no more keep out of a political contest going on within his reach than he could go for a whole afternoon without breathing. He and I were in school together over at the state university, and we both were constantly holding offices of one sort or another. Finally we decided that our studies were suffering in consequence and we decided never to run for another office while in college.

"It was late one Sunday afternoon as we returned from calling on some young ladies when Jule made the proposition about eschewing politics. Said he:

"'We'll swear off and do nothing but support our friends and fight our enemies. We won't seek and won't accept any offices for ourselves; is that a go?

"I agreed to this and we shook hands on it, separating for the night shortly afterwards. Well, when I got down to college next morning I found that there had just been an election for president of the athletic association and that Jule had gone in and won it. It was not twenty-four hours after he had solemnly agreed not to do anything of the kind, but you see Jule can't any more keep out of politics than a duck can keep out of water—and he usually gets what he starts out for, too.

"At any rate, I forgave him for breaking our agreement. In fact, I had to, for I was elected president of one of the literary societies before night."

Merritt and Brittain.

State School Commissioner Merritt, by virtue of his office, acted as one of the hosts at the meeting of the Georgia Educational Association which just closed at Athens. And as one of the hosts he delivered an address of welcome.

The response to this was delivered by County School Commissioner Brittain, of Fulton, who said:

"Commissioner Merritt lives only a short distance from me in Atlanta, and we are in the habit of thinking of him as an Atlanta man. I am informed, too, that for political purposes Valdosta is his home and that the people down there claim him as their own. In the light of these facts I was somewhat surprised to find him here extending a welcome as though he was a native Athenian.

"However, it has been said that no less than seven cities claimed the honor of having been the native place of Homer, and if that be true, it is no matter of wonder that at least three cities should lay claim to so great a man as our state school commissioner."

The incident provoked a good deal of laughter, the current rumor that Professor Brittain might oppose Commissioner Merritt for reelection adding piquancy to what was said.

Tapp To Speak at Louisville.

Colonel Sidney C. Tapp, who some time ago announced, through the papers of the state, his intention of replying to Hoke Smith in case the latter became a candidate for office, announced yesterday that he will make his first speech at Louisville, Jefferson county.

Colonel Tapp had expected to make a speech at Conyers tomorrow, but he states he found it impossible to get ready by that date. He has, accordingly, accepted the invitation of some of his friends to speak at Louisville on the 8th, which is next Saturday.

Jefferson county is one of the counties that went for Colonel Guerry in the campaign of two years ago. Colonel Tapp has a number of friends there, and from them has received assurance of a big crowd to hear him discuss the political issue of the day.

Appointed Solicitor.

Hon. J. W. Culpepper, of Fayetteville, was yesterday appointed by Governor Terrell as solicitor of the city court of Fayetteville to succeed Hon. A. O. Blalock, former solicitor, who is now state senator from the twenty-sixth district. Mr. Culpepper is a well known lawyer of Fayette county, and, it is said, will make an able official.

Whatever Brenau College Does

It tries to do well. This fact is shown by the very beautiful catalogue which the college is sending to those who apply for it. The Brenau catalogue of last year was conceded by all who saw it to be the handsomest ever sent out by a southern school, but Messrs. Foote & Davies, who are getting out the one for this year, have made a greater effort to give the college the most beautiful year book ever published than they did a year ago. While it is an expensive luxury, Brenau feels that it must have the best of everything, and will take pleasure in sending a copy to any one having a daughter or ward to educate. Address A. W. Van Hoose, or H. J. Pearce, Associate Presidents, Gainesville, Ga.

GOVERNOR'S VOTE WAS CANVASSED

Legislature Declares Result of October Election.

Joint Session Held During Most of the Morning—Legislature Will Adjourn Until Wednesday After Inaugurating Governor Terrell Today.

The house and senate met in joint session at 11 o'clock for the purpose of canvasing the vote for governor and state house officers and declaring the result.

The joint session was presided over by President W. S. West, of the senate.

The canvasing of the vote was a long and tedious formality and took up the greater part of the session. When the joint session met the election returns were brought in from the secretary of state's office in a big clothes basket, which served to emphasize the size of the task.

The first step was the appointment of tellers to canvass the returns. President West named as tellers Senator W. S. McHenry, of the forty-second, and Messrs. Hays, of Macon, and Nowell, of Walton.

Mr. Hall, of Bibb, raised the point that the legislature was not required by law to canvass the vote for judges. He thought that had already been done by the secretary of state and their commissions issued. Finally, upon Mr. Hall's motion, a committee composed of Messrs. Hall, Mitchell and Senator Westbrook, was appointed to investigate and report as to just what elections and votes should be acted on by the legislature.

This committee examined the law and reported that the action of the legislature was required only in the case of the governor, secretary of state, comptroller general and treasurer. Under the law it was provided that the vote for all other officers should be canvased by the secretary of state.

Result Is Announced.

The vote for each of these officers in each county in the state was then tabulated by the tellers from the returns, and the result was declared as follows:

Governor—Joseph M. Terrell.
Secretary of State—Philip Cook.
Comptroller General — William A. Wright.
Treasurer—Robert E. Park.

The total vote in the state for each of these officials was as follows:

Governor Terrell, 67,595.
Secretary Phil Cook, 68,872.
Comptrolled General Wright, 68,729.
Treasurer Park, 68,729.

The inauguration of Governor Terrell will take place before a joint session of the house and senate today at 11 o'clock. He will be sworn in by Chief Justice T. J. Simmons and his inaugural address will follow. The oath will be administered to other state house officers by Governor Terrell, who will issue their commissions.

To Adjourn Until Wednesday.

There will be no session of the general assembly either on Monday or Tuesday, July 3 and 4.

The house yesterday adopted the joint resolution already passed by the senate, providing that when the general assembly adjourns on Saturday it adjourns to meet again on Wednesday morning, July 5, at 10 o'clock, and that Monday and Tuesday be declared dies non.

There was some manifestation of opposition to this course, but it did not take shape and no protest was entered.

An amendment by Mr. Leigh, of Coweta, to strike out the provision making Monday and Tuesday dies non, was lost.

The original joint resolution from the senate was thereupon passed by a vote of 77 to 25 and today the legislature will adjourn until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The house was opened with prayer yesterday morning by Rev. D. F. C. Timmons, of Monroe, the new chaplain appointed by Speaker Slaton. This was Dr. Timmons' first appearance in the house and he made an earnest and forceful appeal for the visitation of the divine blessing upon the members and their deliberations and upon the state.

An invitation to the members of the general assembly from Secretary Frank Weldon, of the Interstate Fair Association, to visit the state fair in the fall, and stating that the usual courtesies would be extended, was read by Clerk Boifeuillet.

The house accepted invitations to visit the Barnesville chautauqua, and Clayton, in Rabun county, on July 4.

CARS NOT CROWDED SAYS S. E. MAGILL

Agent of Georgia Railroad Makes Reply to Criticisms.

Says Georgia Road Was Prepared To Handle Crowd for Hoke Smith Meeting at Madison Thursday, but Crowd Did Not Materialize.

S. E. Magill, general agent of the Georgia railroad in Atlanta, in reference to the article in The Atlanta Journal of Thursday afternoon, to the effect that but two extra coaches were provided by the Georgia railroad on its train to Madison Thursday morning on the occasion of the address of Hon. Hoke Smith, made the following statement:

"The statement made in The Atlanta Journal concerning the overcrowding of our coaches, lack of room and inconvenience to passengers desiring to use our train is so inaccurate and does such great injustice to the Georgia railroad that I think it but proper that the facts should be given to the public, in order that the public may be informed of the true situation concerning this matter. Both our passenger and transportation officials continued to make the greatest efforts toward securing additional coaches, notwithstanding nothing further had been heard from the committee or parties interested, and it was not until Wednesday morning that we received positive assurance that the coaches could and would be furnished. We succeeded in securing on that date the additional coaches from connecting lines, and had these coaches in readiness to be attached to our regular train, due to leave Atlanta at 7:45 o'clock Thursday morning, and scheduled to arrive at Madison at 9:56 a. m. Two of these coaches were attached to the rear of our regular train, while the others were held in readiness, and would have been immediately placed in the train had it been found necessary to use them.

"I made a careful investigation of the number of tickets sold by our ticket agents up to the time the train was ready to leave the union depot and found that we had sold but thirty-one tickets to Madison. In addition to the thirty-one regular tickets sold, we had issued eight press tickets to representatives of the Atlanta newspapers as follows: To The Atlanta Journal, 5; Atlanta News, 2; Atlanta Constitution, 1, which were to be used on this train, making a total of thirty-nine passengers.

"Notwithstanding one of the two coaches then attached to the train was entirely empty, and none of the other coaches were more than half filled with passengers, a representative of The Atlanta Journal approached me and stated that he believed we should have another extra coach put in the train, as they had every reason to believe there would be large crowds to use this train from various points between Atlanta and Madison. I assured him that it was our desire to provide ample room for all who might desire to go to Madison, and that, upon his statement, I would have an additional coach attached to the train, which was done, necessarily causing our train to be delayed about fifteen minutes in getting out of Atlanta. Attention was called to the fact that one of the largest and best of our locomotives, the new No. 62, would be placed on this train; also that the three extra coaches attached to the train would be set off at Madison, and taken on by our evening train, on which they would be returned to Atlanta. The train from Atlanta made schedule time, arriving at Madison at 10:12 a. m., or only about fifteen minutes late. In addition to the number of passengers using this train from Atlanta to Madison, our agents sold for this train from intermediate stations on the line the following number of tickets: From Decatur, 1; Conyers, 4; Covington, 13; Social Circle, 15; Rutledge, 13, a total of 46 passengers. These, in addition to the thirty-nine passengers using the train from Atlanta, made a total of eighty-five passengers carried into Madison on this train, which had attached three extra coaches, in addition to the regular coaches and Pullman car in the train. As is well known, the seating capacity of the average passenger car is from sixty to seventy persons. At the very lowest estimate, these three coaches would have comfortably seated 180 passengers. It cannot, therefore, be claimed that there was any overcrowding, or inconvenience to our passengers, by reason of lack of facilities or coach accommodation. The statement that there were three extra coaches attached to this train, instead of two, as stated in The Journal, and that there was ample room for all desiring to go to Madison on the train, is borne out by reports of the correspondents of The Atlanta Constiution and Atlanta News, who accompanied the party."

Mr. Magill stated that nothing further was heard from the committee, or any of the parties interested, until about noon on Wednesday, the day previous to the Madison rally, at which time a party representing the committee telephoned him and asked whether or not they could then procure the 100 tickets from Atlanta to Madison and return, at the proposed reduced rate. Mr. Magill said that he replied to this party over the telephone that, if desired, the rate would be granted, provided the required number of 100 passengers were in the party, and that necessary arrangements would be made to take care of the party. A little later in the day, Mr. Magill was 'phoned that the committee had been conferred with and had decided that owing to a large part of the crowd which desired to go to Madison having become scattered, it would not be possible to get the required number together, and the party stated that they thanked him for the offer, which was appreciated by the committee; also stated that the band and a few other parties would use the regular train to Madison Thursday morning.

WANTED TO LYNCH NEGROES.

Only Cool Heads Prevented Kentucky Mob Killing Seven.

Nashville, Tenn., June 30.—A desperate attempt was made at Scottsdale, Ky., last night to lynch seven young negroes in jail there charged with arson and several other crimes. Cool headed citizens persuaded the mob to wait, that there were others guilty who had not been apprehended. Other negroes charged with being accessories were arrested this morning and placed in jail.

The feeling there against the negroes is very bitter and a wholesale lynching may result.

NEW BUG FOUND; NOT BOLL WEEVIL

Entomologist Smith Investigates Ravages of Cotton Beetle.

State Entomologist R. I. Smith returned yesterday from Laurens county, where he has been looking into the matter of the ravages of the newly found cotton beetle, which was thought by many to be the cotton boll weevil, which has done so much damage in Texas and other western cotton states.

Mr. Smith states positively that this beetle is not the Mexican weevil, though it is doing a great deal of damage to the cotton wherever it is found. The bug eats out the squares and blooms until they fall off. In some instances Mr. Smith found as many as twenty-five of these beetles on one bloom and fifty or more on a single leaf.

Reports of the ravages of this beetle, which, for want of a better common name, is just now called the new cotton beetle, have come from Laurens, Dooly, Irwin, Emanuel, Wilcox, Telfair and several other counties. It was reported in Coffee county last year, but has not been found there this year.

Entomologist Smith recommends the dusting of the cotton plant with a mixture of paris green and lime to eradicate the pest, practically the same mixture as is used for the cotton caterpillar.

Men's Clothing

Yesterday's New York Tribune quotes the following from the Boston Advertiser:

"I am sometimes amazed in passing the great ready-made clothing establishments to note how differently they are regarded than formerly. It was less than twenty years ago that they were patronized almost exclusively by workingmen, mechanics and farmers who desired rough, cheaply made clothing. Merchants, bankers, professonal men invariably left their measure with their tailors, and scorned what was familiarly termed 'slop-made' clothing. But a demand arose for fine grades of ready-made clothing and the alert American manufacturer was ready to meet it. It was the old story of the relative cost of making one coat or of making 500. But there were men of peculiar shape who heretofore could be fitted only by the custom tailor. He was too tall, too fat. This difficulty was soon met and overcome until to-day the ready-made dealer has for his customers that class of men who once scorned him."

And that explains why all sorts and conditions of men may be suited with clothing right here—the products of our own factory—$10.00 to $35.00.

TO ENTERTAIN JUDGES AT 'CUE

Spring Term Adjourns Today and Lawyers Will Entertain.

Today marks the close of the spring term of the Fulton superior court, and about noon today Judge Pendleton will adjourn that tribunal until the first Monday in September. In the meantime there will be no session of court in Fulton county except the July andd August terms of the criminal court of Atlanta.

Judge Pendleton will sign a number of formal orders this morning and will call cases and set them for trial during the first week of the next term of his court, which opens in September. When he adjourns for the day it will be an adjournment for the term.

Following the usual custom the bar of the city will tender a barbecue to the justices of the supreme court, the judges of the United States court sitting in Atlanta and the judges of the state courts. This barbecue will be served at Brownwood, the country place of Colonel Walter R. Brown, on the Soldiers' home car line.

Special cars to carry the judges and lawyers will leave the court house at 1:30 o'clock and go directly to Brownwood. The preparations for the barbecue have been largely in the hands of Colonel Brown and Attorney T. L. Bishop, who have not spared themselves in efforts to make this one of the pleasantest and most successful affairs of the kind ever given under the auspices of the Atlanta Bar Association.

The following committees have been appointed to escort the various judges: For Judge John T. Pendleton, Lamar Rucker and Henderson Hallman; for Judge L. S. Roan, J. E. McClelland and E. Winborn; for Judge Harry M. Reid, Walter Colquitt and Winfield Jones; for Judge A. E. Calhoun, Hanson Jones and W. D. Ellis, Jr.; for the justices of the supreme court, Captain Burton Smith and committee; for the United States court, R. C. Alston and committee.

Criminal Court.

The criminal court of Atlanta, Judge Calhoun presiding, will convene for its regular July term on Monday of next week. There are all told about 100 cases on the docket, but it is not likely that any effort to try other than jail cases will be made. Aside from the sessions of this court the only other event which will at all break into the vacation monotony at the court house this week will be the regular monthly meeting of the Fulton county commissioners, which will be held on Wednesday morning. Only routine business will be transacted at this meeting, however.

In a suit filed yesterday against the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company, Irwin Barrow asks $10,000 for injuries alleged to have been sustained in a rather peculiar manner. He states in his petition that at the time the accident happened he was helping push a dead engine in the round house and that in so doing he was caught between the engine which he pushed and another engine, and badly crushed. He is represented by S. C. Tapp.

MAKING PLANS FOR LABOR DAY

General Committee of the Federation of Trades Meets Tonight.

A movement has already been launched to make the next Labor day the biggest event of the kind ever witnessed by the city of Atlanta.

At the regular session of the Atlanta Federation of Trades this week a general Labor day committee was appointed in pursuance of resolutions offered by the standing Labor day committee. The working people of the city have never been more determined than now to make a monster demonstration, and the next Labor day parade, it is safe to say, will surpass any parade of the kind ever marshalled in this city.

The general Labor day committee, composed of several members of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, as such, a large number of citizens and representatives of every union affiliated with the federation will hold its initial meeting tonight and will at once begin laying plans for a monster celebration.

The resolutions offered by the standing Labor day committee and adopted by the federation were as follows:

"First, that the Labor day committee be composed of members of labor organizations and such citizens as may be selected by the chair.

"Second. One delegate from each affiliating union to be selected by its delegation in the federation. Non-affiliating organizations, or those whose delegates do not attend the federation, are requested to send one delegate.

"Third. The chairman of the Labor day committee may appoint as many citizens and members at large from the federation as is necessary to make the celebration a success.

"Fourth. That the rules of order and all laws of the federation pertaining to committees and delegates shall be binding upon all of those who may be appointed to said committee.

"Your committee recommende shat all organizations of labor be requested to cooperate with the federation in making this, the fourteenth annual celebration of Labor day, a grand and glorious success, and that a parade be held this year with the hope of it surpassing all previous celebrations. Committee: J. B. Hewitt, William Strauss and H. F. Garrett."

After the adoption of the resolutions President Hewitt, of the federation, appointed the following general committee:

Federation of Trades—William Strauss, J. W. Bridwell, Jerome Jones, T. N. Scales, W. S. Weir, J. M. Russell and H. F. Garrett.

Citizens—James L. Mayson, H. H. Cabaniss, E. H. Thornton, Thomas J. Peeples, John M. Slaton, Walter P. Andrews, John W. Nelms, Chief Joyner, Sam D. Jones.

Machinists, Mike Riley; boodbinders, V. C. Rocco; garment workers, Miss Adair; electrical workers 78, C. A. Hardy; stereotypers, J. J. Burke; harness makers, Pat Murray; printers, H. A. Agricola; molders, W. A. Harris; plumbers, W. C. Hillman; bricklayers, Charles W. Bernehardt; No. 6, A. J. Word; carpenters 329, W. C. Lewis; pressmen, No. 8, E. H. Parham; web pressmen, Gordon Johnson; tailors, L. P. Marquardt; bartenders, J. E. DeLorme; brewers, Charles Hirsch; musicians, H. E. Moore; stonecutters, Luke Bradley; stove mounters, J. H. Williams; cigar makers, A. L. Lee; barbers, C. Carlston; blacksmiths, C. M. Kister; painters, George Staffnell; horseshoers, O. D. Clayton; woodworkers, C. A. Hubbard; engravers, E. J. Wrigley; carpenters 439, Harry Morgan; telegraphers, E. B. Whitsey; firemen, H. O. Teat; electrical 84, George Carter.

A committee has been appointed to confer with the Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union with the view of inviting that organization to participate in the Labor day celebrations. This committee is made up as follows: W. S. Weir, C. W. Bernehardt, Jerome Jones, Pat Murray and William Strauss.

There are thousands of members of the association just named, and if they desire to participate in the Labor day celebrations the unions will also participate in Farmers' day, the big holiday of the association.

ANDREWS MAY BE PRESIDENT.

May Succeed Mackall as Head of Union Station Company.

Savannah, Ga., June 30.—(Special.)—First Vice President A. B. Andrews, of the Southern railway, may become president of the Savannah Union Station Company. W. W. Mackall, of this city, who has been president of the company since its formation, has resigned, and it is expected that the succession will probably devolve upon Mr. Andrews, who is now vice president. Mr. Mackall has resigned to devote his attention to his other interests. He has gradually been withdrawing from railway affairs. During his connection with the Georgia and Alabama raidroad and with the Seaboard Air Line, with which the former was merged several years ago, Mr. Mackall has done a great deal for the material advancement and prosperity of Savannah, the Hutchinson island terminals, opposite the city, and the union station standing as monuments to his enterprise, ability and activity. He is devoting most of his time now to the Savannah Trust Company, which he organized.

NEW RAILROAD FOR CARROLL

Grading Under Way on the Atlanta and Birmingham.

Villa Rica, Ga., June 30.—(Special.)—The newest railroad and the one that Carroll county will probably be benefited most by is the Southern. The Atlanta and Birmingham line is being straightened. The grading is already under way from Atlanta to Austell. A new line almost altogether is being built. Beginning at Villa Rica, it is said that the new line will be built on a straight line from that place to some point between Heflin, Ala., and Anniston, Ala. To put this on a straight line there are only two routes to select from. One route will carry it from Villa Rica through Carroll by the way of Mandeville, and on by Cook's mill and Wash Snowville, in western Carroll, and this route will save the Southern 8 miles in a distance of 35 miles. The other line being considered will branch off from Villa Rica and be built on a bee line to a point near Anniston, Ala., and will take a course by the way of Kingsbury's bridge, on the Tallapoosa, 1 mile from Carrollton, and thence westward by Bowden and Ranburne, Ala., and near Bell's mill. This route will save the Southern at least 10 miles in its length from Atlanta to Birmingham, and will make it almost a direct line. The old line of the Southern by the way of Tallapoosa and Muscadine will not be abandoned, but will be used for local purposes.

The Secret of Good Coffee

Even the best housekeepers cannot make a good cup of coffee without good material. Dirty, adulterated and queerly blended coffee such as unscrupulous dealers shovel over their counters won't do. But take the pure, clean, natural flavored

LION COFFEE, the leader of all package coffees—the coffee that for over a quarter of a century has been daily welcomed in millions of homes—and you will make a drink fit for a king in this way:

HOW TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE.

Use LION COFFEE, because to get best results you must use the best coffee.

Grind your LION COFFEE rather fine. Use "a tablespoonful to each cup, and one extra for the pot." First mix it with a little cold water, enough to make a thick paste, and add white of an egg (if egg is to be used as a settler), then follow one of the following rules:

1st. WITH BOILING WATER. Add boiling water, and let it boil THREE MINUTES ONLY. Add a little cold water and set aside five minutes to settle. Serve promptly.

2d. WITH COLD WATER. Add your cold water to the paste and bring it to a boil. Then set aside, add a little cold water, and in five minutes it's ready to serve.

DON'TS 3 (Don't boil it too long. Don't let it stand more than ten minutes before serving. Don't use water that has been boiled before.

TWO WAYS TO SETTLE COFFEE.

1st. With Eggs. Use part of the white of an egg, mixing it with the ground LION COFFEE before boiling.

2d. With Cold Water instead of eggs. After boiling add a dash of cold water, and set aside for eight or ten minutes, then serve through a strainer.

Insist on getting a package of genuine LION COFFEE, prepare it according to this recipe and you will only use LION COFFEE in future. (Sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages.)

(Lion-head on every package.)

(Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

CLERKS TO MEET SUNDAY NEXT

Postoffice Employees Will Hold Session at Tybee Island.

Savannah, Ga., June 30.—(Special.)—The first convention of the postoffice clerks of Georgia will take place Sunday afternoon at Tybee island, and it is expected that there will be a considerable attendance. It is known that there will be delegates from the postoffices at Atlanta, Augusta, Macon, Valdosta, Brunswick, Cordele, Abbeville, Swainsboro and Savannah, and it is probable that the offices of other cities will be represented.

The convention will be called to order at Tybee hotel by Maurice A. Buttimer, of the Savannah office, who is division organizer of the National Association of Postoffice Clerks of the United States. He will introduce Captain Henry Blun, Jr., postmaster at Savannah, who will deliver an address of welcome.

Formal organization of a state association will ensue. Officers will be chosen and by-laws and constitution adopted. A formal paper from National President Arthur Donoghue will be read.

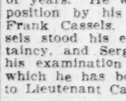

The local organization has been making especial preparations for the entertainment of the visitors. Prominent among the delegates expected are W. B. Hunt, of Atlanta, president of the branch in that city; R. L. Ballantyne, E. C. Bearden, H. G. Mills and W. A. Baker, of Augusta; Clark G. Hardeman, W. E. Van Houten, W. C. Thorpe, C. B. McElroy and O. M. Carlay, Macon; M. L. Goodwin, W. H. Moor and W. H. Hester, Valdosta; Arthur M. Russell, Brunswick; K. G. Bass, Cordele; J. G. Bass, Abbeville and S. H. Lester, Swainsboro.

It is expected that the state association, when organized, will indorse an effort that is being put forth by the Savannah organization to obtain the national convention of the postoffice clerks in 1906. At the convention to be held at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in September, a membership of 15,000 will be represented, and it is then that the invitation of the Savannah branch will be extended.

Cassels May Command Squadron.

Savannah, Ga., June 30.—(Special.)—The commission of Captain A. Gordon Cassells as lieutenant colonel of the First regiment, cavalry, Georgia state troops, will probably be issued by the governor in time to admit of Colonel Casells assuming command of the first squadron of the regiment on the occasion of its assembling at Hinesville, Liberty county, on July 4. He stood his examination a few days ago.

Colonel Cassels has been captain of the Liberty Independent Troop for a number of years. He will be succeeded in that position by his brother, Lieutenant R. Frank Cassels. Today Lieutenant Cassels stood his examination for the captaincy, and Sergeant J. R. White stood his examination for the lieutenancy, to which he has been elected in succession to Lieutenant Cassels.

Charles Smith essayed the McGinnity act yesterday afternoon in trying to win a double-header from Birmingham, and in both games the big boy showed that he was in fine pitching form, growing stronger as the innings passed.

Results:

First game: Atlanta 3, Birmingham 2.

Second game: Birmingham 2, Atlanta 0.

Steady, consistent pitching by Smith in the first game combined, with a few Atlanta hits and a couple of errors by Rubber Arm Delehanty, gave the first game to the locals.

In the second Smith pitched in great form, and the locals fielded brilliantly behind him, Jordan doing the star work of the afternoon, but the Firecrackers failed to hit in bunches while the Barons annexed a couple of runs by timely smashes.

The first game started at 2:30 o'clock with a big crowd present to cheer on the home team. Jordan picked C. Smith for the first attempt, while Dessau was the nomination of Manager Vaughan, of the visitors.

In the third inning Birmingham jumped to the scoring wagon and made connection when Vaughan singled, went to second on an infield out, and came in home on an easy bounder which Morse failed to handle.

In the fourth inning Atlanta evened up and went the Barons one better. Winters started the rolling of the ball with a clean crack to center. Crozier did the sacrifice. Stafford went out from short to first and then Jordan pinched one at Delehanty. Del noticed with some alarm the fast time the manager was making on his passage from the plate to first, and in his hurry to catch Jordan tossed the ball over Vaughan's head, Winters walking in home, and Jordan taking second base. Then Morse came to the rescue with a single and Jordan tallied.

In the fifth inning the Steel Magnates did the tie act. Smith singled to left field and W. Clarke made an attempt to sacrifice him to second. The ball rolled in front of the plate, a cross between a fair and foul ball in the estimation of Mr. Clarke, who did not make a strong attempt to get to first base. Archer picked the ball up, tagged Clarke and then threw over the head of Jordan on second. Smith kept on his way and reached third, when Krug muffed the throw of Dick Crozier from center field. Vaughan singled and long legs tallied.

Atlanta made the last score and won the game in the Atlanta half of thei same inning. Joe Rickert led off with a single over second base, Delehanty making a brilliant stop and then throwing wild to first base, Rickert reaching second. Winters walked, and Rickert stole third base at the same time, and scored on a wild toss by Clarke to catch him at third.

Second Game.

After a ten minute rest, the team resumed play. Smith went into the box for Atlanta, and the big crowd went wild for the moment. Reagan was the pick of the Barons.

In this game the fielding work of Jordan was the finest ever seen in Atlanta around second base. Twice he went after balls over second base, hits which appeared to be past fielding, and on both occasions snapped them up on the dead run and fielded the men out at first base.

Dick Crozier made a sensational catch in center field, coming in fast behind second base, and falling to the ground as he caught and held on to the ball.

The batting honors went to Whitey Morse, who in both games had a batting feast. In the first game the silver-topped short walked once and hit safely twice. In the second he drew three hits out of three times up, one of his cracks being good for a couple of bags. Five times safe out of six chances was his record for the afternoon.

The loss of the second game was due to the failure of the locals to hit the ball. They were helpless before Reagan, and some of their efforts were pitiful. In one inning, with two out, Morse and Krug singled, but Archer was unable to bring them in. In another attempt Morse reached third base, with one out, but was doubled on a neat play by Vaughan to Hafford, when Archer snapped the ball into the hands of the big first baseman, a line hit.

Birmingham scored in the fourth and the sixth innings. In the fourth Hennessy singled, went to second on a sacrifice by Delehanty and came walking home when long legs Smith hit one to the fence for a couple of bags.

In the sixth the visitors secured one more run, when Dusty Miller led off with a clean hit, went to second on a hit by Hennessy, was sacrificed a bag by Delehanty, and came in home on Smith's single to right, Hennessy being nipped at the plate by the return from George Winters.

Heinie Krug played better ball yesterday in the field than he has for some time in the past, showing some little ginger. He got one hit in the second game.

GAMBLERS NULLIFY LAW BY WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY

Chicago, June 30.—The steamer City of Traverse, America's first wireless floating pool room, made her initial trip yesterday, and by the admission of the authorities, it means the commencement of a reign of bliss for the local gambling fraternity. Chief of Police O'Neil said tonight that under a decision written by the legal advisers of the city he is powerless to interfere. The jurisdiction of Illinois does not extend into Michigan or Indiana waters and there is no federal statute prohibiting gambling on federal waters, so that it is believed that the managers of the pool room have outwitted the authorities.

When the boat left Chicago she carried about three hundred passengers, one-third of her legal limit. She was taken to a point 22 miles southeast of Chicago. It had been ascertained that at this point in the middle of the lake, just half way between Michigan and Illinois, and 10 miles north of Indiana, the waters of the three states are closest together.

When the boat reached this point she was slowed down to 2 miles an hour and commenced to describe vast circles for the balance of the afternoon. She was careful to avoid going back to Illinois waters for the reason that several detectives were on board and a raid would have resulted immediately. Just at the time that the boat commenced to make its circles the wireless apparatus began to pick up race reports, the second race at Sheepshead Bay being the first event on which the betting odds were received. From that time till 5:10 the results and betting odds from Latonia, Buffalo and Sheepshead Bay came without interruption, both from Chicago and Michigan City. Bets were made and paid as though at a race track.

The biggest winning of the day for the players was made on Ocean Tide in the last race at Sheepshead Bay, the crowd following with laughter a shout made when the entries were posted, "Ocean Tide is a good thing when you are afloat." The adds were 2 to 1 and the book was hit hard. Water Span and Water Wagon were also heavily backed for the same reason as Ocean Tide, but they lost and the "water tip" lost favor.

Union Springs Won Series.

Union Springs, Ala., June 30.—(Special.) By a score of 15 to 3 Thursday afternoon the locals took the third of a series of three games from the Fort Gaines, Ga., team, making it three straights. Good Work for Covington.

Covington, Ga., June 30.—Two games won and one lost is the record of the Covington baseball team this week. The first game was played with Milledgeville Monday, which was the one lost, the score being 1 to 0. The feature of this game was a spectacular catch made after a long run by Captain Burton Davis, of the Covington team. Tuesday's game with Milledgeville resulted in a score of 6 to 2 for Covington, in which Covington's battery, Bush and Norman, did superb work at the bat, getting three hits each in the nine innings.

Perhaps the hardest fought and most exciting game played by the locals this season was the contest with Madison yesterday. Several wild throws in the first inning gave Madison two runs, then another error in the fourth inning gave the third score. Covington did not score until the seventh. Score 4 and 3 in favor of Covington. After the first few innings Norman pitched an invincible game against the Madisonians.

THEATERS.

The Casino.

Matinee and evening performances today will conclude the popular engagement of Billy (Single) Clifford at the Ponce de Leon Casino.

The comedian has made good every promise that was made for him in advance of his engagement, and has certainly established himself as one of the real favorites with local theater goers. His monologue and eccentric dancing in the second act of "A High Born Lady" is without doubt the best individual entertaining that has been done in the Casino. His half an hour looks like ten minutes, and even then he has to beg away to permit the rest of the performance to proceed.

The musical department gives Fred Walz much credit, for the Shetland Pony Chorus has won a standing that is equal to the best locally. The numbers are all new and original, and the performance perfectly delightful from the start until the finish.

There will be genuine regret that the company concludes its engagement with the two performances today.

"The Strange Adventures of Miss Brown" will be the bill for the week embracing July Fourth at the Ponce de Leon Casino. In honor of the holiday a special matinee will be given on Tuesday, and there will also be matinee performances on Thursday and Saturday.

The Walter Edwards Company will portray the characters, with Mr. Edwards and Miss Andrews in the leading roles. The best talent in the company will assist in the production.

There is a good deal of interest in the announcement that certain members of the company will contribute specialties.

SEVEN ADDITIONAL CLERKS.

Postoffice Is Increased by Order from Washington Authorities.

The clerical force in the Atlanta postoffice will be augmented this morning immediately upon the arrival of Hon. E. F. Blodgett, Atlanta's postmaster, at the federal building, and each of the seven men slated for positions will show his diploma from the civil service examination board.

For months Postmaster Blodgett has been stressing the absolute necessity of more men, and his persistent requests have at last been rewarded. In the postmaster's mail yesterday was a letter from the head of his department in Washington, directing him to add seven men to his clerical force, and authorizing that addition at once, or immediately upon receipt of the letter containing the instructions.

From the substitute list, which has had an existence at the federal building for months, drafts will be made to supply the new positions, which will be formed this morning.

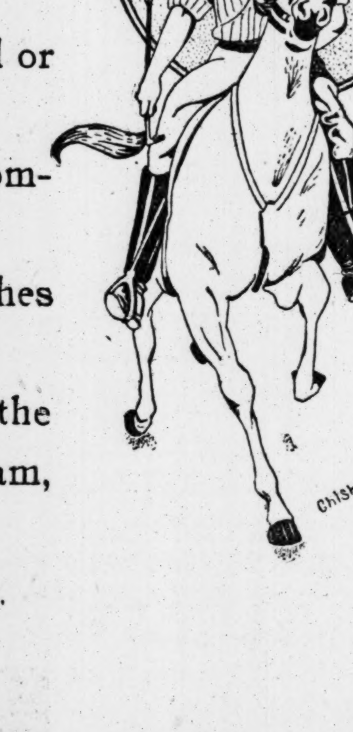

As the situation now is, Postmaster Blodgett, in the event he should have use for more men than the present list of eligibles shows, three in all after today's draft is finished, would be compelled to secure men who can not show civil service papers or to have the help needed brought from other sections of the country.

MAY TOUCHED TEN CENT MARK

Cotton Market Was Feverishly Active and Excited.

After a Slight Reaction Prices Advanced Sharply on Prompt Stopping of July Notices. Closed Steady 31 to 39 Points Higher.

CHRONICLE'S CROP AND WEATHER REPORT.

Following is The New York Financial Chronicle's weekly weather and crop report, received over private leased wires by Messrs. Ware & Leland:

"New York, June 30.—Our telegraphic advices from the south this evening indicate that the weather has been satisfactory during the week quite generally and that cotton is doing well as a rule. There has been rain in almost all localities, excessive at some points, but on the whole it is stated to have been beneficial. In a few districts along the Atlantic moisture, it is claimed, is needed. Many of our correspondents report further improvement in the crop and advices from Texas state that complaints of boll weevil have been less than usual thus far."

New York, June 30.—The cotton market was feverishly active and excited, reaching new high levels for the season, with May in the late trading touching the 10-cent mark, while July, which led in the strong advance, sold about $2.50 a bale above the lowest level of yesterday. The opening was firm at an advance of 12 to 15 points, in response to higher cables. Sentiment was confused by the publication of crop condition estimates by two leading authorities, one showing a deterioration in the crop for the month of 3 per cent, while the other showed an improvement of about as much. The latter, with fairly good weather over the belt, promoted a renewal of the bear pressure noted on the previous day, but after a slight reaction prices began to advance, owing to the prompt stopping of July notices, which were issued to the amount of some 12,000 bales. The stopping of these was followed by a statement from a large local house, that they, with others, would stop all tenders on July contracts for "powerful interests." This was taken by smaller shorts as indicating a possible corner in July, and in the afternoon the trade was extremely nervous, with stop orders coming out on every few points advance, while New Orleans and local bulls supported the market. July sold up to 9.73, or 47 points net higher, and later positions were 33 to 34 points higher. The close was off a little on near months under realizing, but steady in tone, and 31 to 39 points net higher for the day. Sales were reported at 650,000 bales.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

COTTON—Buying today has been more general than for some time, the bullish feeling having extended itself and the outside interest assuming larger proportions. Other than this, with the limited oering there is little to note. The market is a purely speculative one at the moment, waiting for the government report of Monday next. Crop conditions appear to have improved, the heavy rains of last week have simply delayed work and the deterioration for the past month is assetred to be imaginary with an improvement of 8 per cent at least. These are private advices, and differ from the current sentiment, which is being carefully guided to the buying on an advancing scale. The spot market was quiet at 25 points advance.

The New Orleans Market.

New Orleans, June 30.—Spot cotton firm and higher; sales 1,300 bales, including 200 to arrive and 200 f.o.b.; delivered on contract 100 bales. Quotations advanced 3-16c.

Futures opened excited with the active positions up 17 to 18 points on an unexpected advance in Liverpool and a flood of bullish reports from all quarters. The market continued to advance until prices were a dollar a bale above yesterday's closing. The shorts commenced to buy and assisted the bulls in sending prices up on themselves. The trength of the bull movement continued to the end of the session, the market closing steady with net gains of 26 to 29 points.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, June 30.—Less activity is noticeable in the dry goods market, but the firmness on practically all lines is perceptible. Buyers who are looking for nearby deliveries are not very successful in finding them.

START WAS EASY, CLOSE STRONG

Predictions of Rain in West and Southwest Main Factor.

Sharp Advance Shown in Wheat at the Close—Corn Closed at the Highest Point in Sympathy with the Bulge in Wheat.

Chicago, June 30.—Predictions of widespread wet weather made a strong market today in wheat. Disorders in Russia emphasized the upward trend of prices. September closed 1 1-8@1 1-4c higher, corn, oats and provisions practically unchanged.

Notwithstanding higher Liverpool cables wheat here opened rather easy, July 1-8@1-2c lower at 91 3-4@92 1-8; September unchanged at 88 1-4@88 1-2. One cause of the easier tone was clear weather in the northwest. Temporarily sentiment was inclined to bearishness despite heavy rains in Kansas. There was, however, no great selling pressure. Toward the end the first hour the market developed a firmer undertone. As trading progressed sentiment became decidedly bullish. The advance was started by buying brought out by an official part of the wheat belt. Demand was forecast for rain throughout the greater augmented by damage reports from the northwest, one report from Minneapolis stating that in some sections of Minnesota the fields are brown with rust. Another factor that helped to stimulate demand was the unsettled condition of affairs in Russia. At 94c July reached the highest point of the day, and September went to 90 1-4. A slight reaction resulted from profit taking, but the tone at the close was strong, September at 89 5-8@89 3-4c and July at 93 5-8c. Clearances equalled 55,800 bushels. Exports for the week as shown by Bradstreet's were 756,600 bushels. Primary receipts 291,000, against 262,200 a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported 169 cars, against 166 last week and 236 a year ago.

Influenced by lower Liverpool cables corn was rather weak early. Conditions in the corn belt in the United States were more favorable for the growing crop, which had a weakening effect. Later reports of light acceptances strengthened values. The bulge in wheat added to the firmness. Shorts and commission houses were active buyers during the last hour. The market closed firm, at about the high point of the day. September opened at 54@54 1-4, sold up to 54 3-8c and closed at 54 1-4@54 3-8c. July ranged between 54 7-8c@55 1-2c@55 5-8c, closing at 5 1-2. Receipts 603 cars, 177 contract.

Despite the strength of wheat, oats closed barely steady, liberal profit taking late being the weakening influences. September opened unchanged to 1-8c lower at 31 1-4@31 3-8, sold up to 31 3-4 and closed at 31 3-8c. July ranged between 32 1-4@32 3-4c and closed at 32 3-8c. Receipts 101 cars.

Trading in provisions was extremely quiet. Sentiment was rather bearish the greater part of the day owing to lower live hogs.

Estimated receipts tomorrow: Wheat, 4 cars; corn, 577 cars; oats, 109 cars; hogs, 19,000 head.

Ware & Leland.

WHEAT—There was a little selling early, but offerings were quickly picked up, and with foreign markets advancing, and the fact of a revolution spreading over Russia in conjunction with rains in the northwest and southwest started a lively buying movement that was kept up at a good pace, although meeting with considerable realizing. Commission houses bought on a liberal scale, and there were indications of more outside interest. Northwest crop advices are of the most bullish description, the situation in the spring regions is such that it is creating fears of great damage, and the market in a position where it can be advanced very easily, hence we would favor purchases on all declines.

CORN—This market displayed considerable strength, offerings being light, although to induce shorts to cover, and there was good commission house buying, while heavy rains in Iowa brought in reports of poor condition. The closing was strong, and it looks to us as if prices would work higher.

OATS—There are some commission house selling and a good deal of changing, some houses buying September and selling December, while others were working on the opposite side. There were a number of poor reports sent in from points in this state, the heavy rains also creating fears of damage to the Iowa crop. A noticeable fact was that a number of damage reports were accompanied with buying orders, and we would not be surprised to witness sharp advances, while favoring purchases on any decline tomorrow to carry over the holidays.

PROVISIONS—The principal feature was the selling of July ribs by Armour brokers, while the Cudahys were selling July and buying September at the widening discounts. Hogs were in good supply and lower. The closing was easy. July deliveries will probably be fairly liberal of ribs and heavy of lard, and if followed by declines we would favor purchases of September product.

STOCKS—The mutiny in the Russian navy had an unsettling effect on the European markets, and London houses sold about 20,000 shares. Prices were reactionary at the opening of our market, partly owing to the ante-holiday liquidation and partly to the bearish aggression of the floor traders. After the first few minutes of trading, however, prices rallied under the leadership of the tractions. The Ryan pool in these issues is particularly strong, and, it is said, is confident of establishing them on a much higher price. In the early afternoon Brooklyn Rapid Transit sold above 70, a price unjustified by the condition of the property and its present earnings. Trading was particularly uninteresting, owing to the fact that so many speculators have left town to be gone until after Tuesday. The early rally was maintained, and the market closed very quietly at about the highest prices of the day. There are indications that the market will continue dull and uninteresting until after the Fourth. In case the mutiny of the Russian sailors spread it is probable that serious disturbances will develop in the continental markets. While a revolution in Russia might tend to depress prices temporarily, it would eventually be a bullish factor.

COTTON.

New York, June 30, 1905.—I quote the following telegram from Belton, Texas: "You are going to learn soon of how much damage the weevil can do. I find stung forms in every field I have examined. Young will soon be coming out. We will then have thousands. Crop three weeks out." From many other sections of the cotton belt I receive the most alarming reports as to the lateness of the crop, the smallest of the plant and impotence of its productive power. Miss Giles' monthly crop report, issued today, makes the average condition 76 as against 79.1 one month ago. She says that the indications are for an approximate crop of 10,600,000. I shall appreciate it if those of my friends to whose eye this notice shall come will telegraph me not more than ten words, at my expense, stating briefly the condition and outlook of their locality, and I would especially request my Texas correspondents to advise me fully as to the probability of increased ravages by boll weevil in that state. Meantime, I take occasion to express my confident belief in very much higher prices for cotton. The world's consumption of American cotton at present is at the rate of 14,000,000 bales per annum. If, as the majority of my reports indicate, the probable crop next year is likely to be less than 11,000,000 bales, I regard 12 cent cotton as certain as any commercial proposition can be.

STOCKS OPENED AT SHARP LOSSES

Large Blocks of Principal Active Stocks Thrown on Market

The General Market Was Dull—Decline in Call Loan Rate Relieved the Market from Pressure and the Closing Was Steady.

New York, June 30.—The call loan rate rose to 6 per cent and the speculative movement in the stock market came to a halt. There was a lively spilling out of stocks at the opening, owing to yesterday's premonition of the flurry in the call loan market, and some wide declines resulted from the outset. These were not exceeded, in fact, during the rest of the day, and the market developed a dull, resting tendency, and was partly sustained by a few points of positive strength. But the volume of dealings showed a notable shrinkage, and during the latter part of the day trading came almost to a standstill. The actual liquidation was small, and confidence is still professed in an early return of abundant ease in the money market after the turn of the half hour. The failure of the Louisville and Nashville directors late yesterday to advance the dividend rate had some continued effect today, not only on Louisville and Nashville, but on Baltimore and Ohio, Union Pacific and other stocks, which have been the subject of predictions of dividend increases. The report of a contract for the supply of enormous amount of steel billets by the United States Steel Corporation to the Pittsburg Steel Company did not save the United States Steel stocks from the prevailing heaviness. The advance in Erie second preferred was on dividend predictions, and some sympathetic effect was produced on the other coalers, notably Ontario and Western. The local tractions also showed some resistance to the pressure on the market. With the recession in the call loan rate, substantial recoveries were made and the market closed steady with small mixed changes.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,375,000.

United States bonds were all unchanged on call.

Money on call strong and higher at 3@6 per cent, closing bid at 3; offered at 3 1-2; time loans steady but dull; 60 days 2 3-4@3; 90 days 3@3 1-4; six months 3 3-4; prime mercantile paper 3 1-2@4 1-4.

Sterling exchange easy, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.86.95@4.87.05 for demand and at $4.85.10@4.85.15 for 60 day bills; posted rates $4.86@4.88; commercial bills $4.84 7-8@4.85.

Bar silver 58 1-4c.

Mexican dollars 45 1-4c.

Government bonds steady.

Railroad bonds irregular.

Southern Exchange.

COTTON—Liverpool cables were unexpectedly strong. This with estimates of June conditions indicating very little improvement, our market opened 15 to 16 points higher and later reached a new high level. This was also encouraging by the fact that 12,000 bales was accepted for delivery on July notices, which gives evidence of bull movement being carried into the spot market or rather spot condition. There was very litti rain in the weather map today, and forecast for scattered thunder showers in the western belt and generally fair weather with occasional showers in the east. Present weather conditions are very favorable to the growing crop. Conservative consideration of all estimates furinshed the government figures Monday should be very close to 80. This hardly suggests an average yield per acre. However, much depends on July and August weather. The speculative character of the market at present range of prices is in our opinion to suggest extreme caution in making new engagements at this time, although the situation seems to favor a further advance in prices.

THE TRADE SITUATION.

New York, June 30.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Thought reflecting some irregularity due to midyear influences, or, in some sections, to less cheerful crop reports, ths volume of distributive trade is a full one of the season and industry and manufacture show lless than ordinarily the effects of the approach of the vacation period. Good reorders fr summer fabrics are still active at some leading markets. Relatively the best reports come from the central west and southwest. The south seems quite generally to hold the improvement reported last week. The only important subject of complaint is that the weather has been too wet or too cool in prtions f the crn and wheat belts t allow of the best crop development and harvesting.

"The crude iron trade is quiet, but inquiries are more numerous. The finishing mills are still very busy, and summer shutdowns are likely to be restricted. Railway earnings continue good and the traffic outlook is favorable. Commodity prices, particularly farm products and raw materials for manufacture, are very firm. Collections range from fair to good.

"Wheat, including flour, exports for the week are 756,641 bushels, against 975,832 last week and 1,127,885 this week last year. From July 1 to date the exports are 62,427,760 bushels, against 133,872,034 last year.

"Corn exports for the week are 2,266,364 bushels, against 1,110,356 last week and 536,087 a year ago. From July 1 to date the exports of corn are 79,969,031 bushels, against 71,537,991 in 1904.

"Business failures in the United States for the week number 186, against 157 last week and 204 in 1904. In Canada failures for the week number 33, against 23 last week and 20 a year ago."

Dun's Review.

New York, June 30.—R. G. Dun & Co's weekly review of trade tomorrow will say:

"Commercial conditions seldom change at midsummer and quiet markets usually prevail unless there is a movement at the commodity exchanges in response to crop reports. The past week has proved no exception to the general rule. Seasonable merchandise has gone into distribution freely at retail, duplicate orders for summer lines are more numerous with jobbers and traveling salesmen sending substantial contracts to wholesale dry goods houses for future delivery. Manufacturing plants are well employed for this time of the year when it is customary to make inventories and repairs, but next week the idleness will be further increased, after which a general resumption of activity is anticipated. The confidence in the future and the increasing promptness of mercantile collections are the best features of the trade situation. Least satisfaction is in the speculative fever that has appeared in grain and cotton, prices rising more than is apparently justified by the dispatches to this paper regarding progress on these farms. Railway earnings thus far reported for June were 7.9 per cent larger than last year and foreign commerce at this port for the last week showed gains of $2,832,270 in exports and $945,339 in exports as compared with 1904.

"Merchant steel and agricultural implements material are fairly strong features of the market, but in almost all lines the placing of contracts is being deferred in the hopeof better terms.

"Conditions in the woolen division have not altered except that a little more stability attends the steadier position of raw wool.

"In the hide market no change has occurred, but former conditions have become more pronounced, light hides gaining strength, while heavy skins weakened. Although the tone of the market for foreign dry hides remains easy no further concessions are reported. Improvement continues in leather trade. Sample orders for spring footwear are unusually heavy and the outlook for future business in boots and shoes is considered bright.

"Failures this week numbered 249 in the United States, against 249 last year, and in Canada 16, compared with 11 a year ago."
